WELCOME FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Students,

Great Northern University educates individuals to engage and transform the world. We believe that your education should equip you to engage with those who exist in your world—your friends, neighbors, church members, families, coworkers, and community members. We strive to promote a holistic education that informs all aspects of your life. We expect that your school experience will be a part of the transformational sanctification process as you are being conformed to the image of Christ. In addition to your focused studies in your major, a GNU education provides you with a solid biblical and theological foundation; cross-cultural skills; effective and respectful communication abilities; critical, creative, and analytical thinking skills; and a deep love for the local church. During and beyond your time here, we desire for you to live deeply meaningful, purposeful, and faithful lives while making significant and lasting contributions to the world around you.

While you are at GNU, we hope that you understand, embrace, and embody our core values: scholarship, wisdom, and community. We want you to be consistent and disciplined learners whose lives reflect wise choices and discernment. We believe that learning occurs in community and that this type of engagement fosters both personal and communal growth.

More than anything, as brothers and sisters in Christ, we hope that you increase in your love for God and your love for other people.

In Christ and In Your Service,

Dr. Wendy L. Liddell, Ph.D., President

Great Northern University

LEGAL NOTICES AND COMPLIANCE

Authorization

Great Northern University is authorized by the Washington Student Achievement Council and meets the requirements and minimum educational standards established for degree-granting institutions under the Degree-Granting Institutions Act. This authorization is subject to periodic review and authorizes Great Northern University to offer specific degree programs. The Council may be contacted for a list of currently authorized programs. Authorization by the Council does not carry with it an endorsement by the Council of the institution or its programs. Any person desiring information about the requirements of the act or the applicability of those requirements to the institution may contact the Council at P.O. Box 43430, Olympia, WA 98504-3430 or by email at degreeauthorization@wsac.wa.gov.

Accreditation Status

Great Northern University has achieved Candidate Status with Transnational Association of Christian Colleges and Schools (TRACS). Candidate Status offers institutions the opportunity to establish an initial, formal, and publicly recognized pre-accredited status with TRACS. An institution seeking Candidacy must provide evidence of sound planning, have adequate resources to implement these plans, and have the ability to achieve Accredited status. This status does not guarantee the institution will become accredited.

Catalog Disclaimer

The provisions of this publication are not to be regarded as the irrevocable terms of a contract between the student and Great Northern University. Changes are effected from time to time in admission requirements, academic requirements, general regulations, tuition, fees, institutional financial aid, and scholarship policies. A curriculum or graduation requirement, when altered, is not made retroactive unless the alteration is to the student's advantage and / or can be accommodated within the span of years normally required for graduation.

Information on current tuition and fees is published on the GNU website. For additional information on educational expenses, or financial aid, students should contact the Registrar's Office.

Statement of Nondiscrimination in Employment

Subject to the Constitution of the United States and all applicable state and federal laws, Great Northern University does not discriminate in its employment practices.

Statement of Nondiscrimination in Admissions

In furtherance of its educational programs and activities, Great Northern University does not discriminate in its student admission policies as determined by its charter, its mission, and its core themes, following all state and federal laws. Based on its commitment to equal opportunity and inclusion, Great Northern University is an equal employment opportunity employer that provides the opportunity for all applicants to excel without bias.

Freedom of Information

With certain exceptions provided by law, Great Northern University cannot release information concerning students to prospective employers, government agencies, credit bureaus, etc., without the written consent of the student. Students and alumni applying for jobs, credit, graduate school, etc., must provide the university with written permission to release the specific records to the specified parties.

The University does not release information to any party, including the student, that does not originate with the University (e.g., high school transcripts, medical records, etc.) unless otherwise provided by law.

Annual FERPA Notice to Students

Great Northern University informs students annually of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) of 1974, as amended. This act was designed to protect the privacy of education records and afford students certain rights with respect to accessing their education records. These rights include:

Inspect and Review. Students have the right to inspect and review education records within 45 days of the university receiving a request for access. Students should submit a written and signed request to the Registrar or other appropriate university official identifying specific records the student intends to review. The university official will make arrangements for access and notify the student of the location and time where the records may be inspected or direct them to the appropriate office.

Request Amendment. Students have the right to request an amendment to their own educational records if they believe their records are inaccurate, misleading, or otherwise in violation of the student's rights under FERPA. A signed amendment request must be submitted in writing to the university official responsible for maintaining the record in question. The written request should clearly identify the part of the record the student wishes to amend and specify why the record is inaccurate or misleading. If the university chooses not to amend the record, the university official will notify the student in writing of the decision and advise the student of any appeals process that might be available.

Consent to Disclosure. Students have the right to consent to disclosures of personally identifiable information contained in their own educational records not permitted under FERPA guidelines. FERPA allows disclosure without consent to certain parties, including, but not limited to:

- a. School officials with a legitimate educational interest as defined by FERPA
- b. School officials or lending institutions (not state or federal) in connection with financial aid for which the student has applied or which the student has received, if the information is necessary to determine eligibility, amount, conditions for the aid, or enforcing the terms and conditions of the aid
- c. Organizations conducting studies for or on behalf of educational institutions.
Student records will note when such disclosures have occurred
- d. Accrediting organizations
- e. Parents of dependent students as verified under Internal Revenue Code 1986, Section 152 (NOTE: Appropriate tax documentation must be provided by the parents.)
- f. Parents of students under the age of 21 who have violated university policies related to alcohol or controlled substances
- g. Final disciplinary proceedings against a student who is an alleged perpetrator of a violent crime (18 U.S.C. § 16) or non-forcible sex offense regardless of whether the violation was proven under the university's rules or policies
- h. Persons whose knowledge is necessary to protect the health and safety of the student or other individuals where there is an articulable and significant threat to the health and safety of a student or other individuals
- i. Legal representatives with a lawfully issued subpoena or court order
- j. Information deemed as directory information unless the student has requested in writing within 14 days of enrollment at GNU that directory information be held from disclosure (GNU directory information that may be disclosed by the university for any purpose at its discretion includes name, classification, major and degree programs, home and local addresses, e-mail address, all phone numbers, previous institutions attended, dates of attendance, full-time or part-time status, honors and awards, degree / s conferred including dates, religious affiliation, participation in official university athletic and music programs, physical factors such as height and weight, photograph, and birth information such as date and place.)

File a Complaint. Students have the right to file a complaint at the following address concerning alleged failures by the university to comply with the requirements of FERPA. Family Policy Compliance Office, U.S. Department of Education, 600 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20202-4605.

Students with questions about FERPA should contact the Registrar's Office.

Duplication and Use of Copyrighted Materials

It is the intent of Great Northern University to delineate, enforce, and abide by the provisions of current United States copyright laws (including the Digital Millennium Copyright Act of 1998) as they affect the life and activities of the institution, its employees, and its students.

- Copyrighted materials, whether they are print or non-print, will not be duplicated or used unless such reproduction meets "fair use" standards or unless written permission from the copyright holder has been received.

- Details about "fair use" (that copying and / or use which is allowed by federal law) will be made available to all instructors, students, or administrators as requested or needed.
- The administration of GNU does not sanction illegal duplication or use in any form. Employees and students who willfully disregard the university copyright position are in violation of GNU Policy; they do so at their own risk and assume all liability personally.

UNIVERSITY PROFILE

Purpose

Great Northern University is a non-profit educational institution. GNU is established in recognition of the need to provide Eastern Washington state, the Spokane-Coeur D'Alene corridor, and the western United States in general with high quality Christian higher education that emphasizes professional service to the poor, underprivileged, and marginalized, and to all those in need of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, both in our region and abroad. The main purpose of GNU is the training and spiritual formation of individuals who desire to serve Christ and His church in the furtherance of the Gospel as put forth in Scripture.

Vision and Mission

Our Vision: Great Northern University educates individuals who will engage and transform the world for Jesus Christ.

Our Mission: Great Northern University is a Christian, liberal arts university distinguished by meaningful relationships with faculty, rigorous academic programs, and ongoing career preparation.

Profile & History

Great Northern University is a private, four-year Christian university located at 611 E. Indiana Ave. in Spokane, WA. The University was founded in January 2018. A visionary, growing Christian Bible-centered university, Great Northern University currently offers eight bachelor's majors and seven certificate programs divided into three separate colleges of learning.

Code of Belief and Conduct—Doctrinal Statement

- We believe the Bible to be the inspired, the only infallible, authoritative Word of God.
- We believe that there is one God, eternally existent in three persons: Father, Son and Holy Spirit.
- We believe in the deity of our Lord Jesus Christ, in His virgin birth, in His sinless life, in His miracles, in His vicarious and atoning death through His shed blood, in His bodily resurrection, in His ascension to the right hand of the Father, and in His personal return in power and glory.
- We believe that for the salvation of lost and sinful people, regeneration by the Holy Spirit is absolutely essential.
- We believe in the present ministry of the Holy Spirit by whose indwelling the Christian is enabled to live a godly life.
- We believe in the resurrection of both the saved and the lost; they that are saved unto the resurrection of life and they that are lost unto the resurrection of damnation.
- We believe in the spiritual unity of believers in our Lord Jesus Christ.

Code of Belief and Conduct—Policy Statement on Social Issues

Sexuality. We affirm that divinely ordained differences between male and female reflect God’s original design for creation and are meant for human good and flourishing. Originally, these two distinct, complementary sexes together reflected the image and nature of God (Gen. 1:26-27).

Marriage. We affirm that it was and remains God’s intent that marriage be a holy and exclusive union between one man and one woman (Gen. 2:18-25), and that this union be a sanctifying relationship that uniquely reflects Christ’s relationship with His Church (Eph. 5:21-33). God ordains that sexual intimacy occurs only between a man and a woman who are married to each other (1 Cor. 6:18; 7:2-5; Heb. 13:4), and that no intimate sexual activity be engaged in outside of a legal marriage between a man and a woman.

We affirm that other forms of sexual intimacy (including, but not limited to cohabitation, adultery, fornication, homosexuality, bisexual conduct, bestiality, incest, or use of pornography) are immoral in the sight of God and violate God’s intent that human sexuality is a holy union exclusively between a man and a woman in holy matrimony. (Matt. 15:18-20; 1 Cor. 6:9-10).

We affirm that God offers redemption and restoration to all who confess and forsake their sin, seeking His mercy and forgiveness through Jesus Christ (Acts 3:19-21; Rom 10:9-10; 1 Cor 6:9-11).

We further affirm that sin distorts sexual desires in all human persons but that we can nonetheless through faith in Jesus Christ walk in purity of life, which is pleasing to God (Col 3:5; Rom 8:37).

We affirm that every person must be afforded compassion, love, kindness, respect, and dignity (Mark 12:28-31; Luke 6:31). Hateful and harassing behavior or attitudes directed toward any individual are to be repudiated and are not in accord with Scripture.

Sanctity of Human Life. We affirm that all human life is sacred and created by God in His image. Human life is of inestimable worth in all its dimensions, including pre-born babies, the aged, the physically or mentally challenged, and every other stage or condition from conception through death. We are therefore called to defend, protect, and value all human life (Ps. 139).

Core Values

Scholarship

Scholarship at Great Northern University is pursued from the perspective of a biblical, Christian worldview. The integration of faith, learning, and living is central to every academic discipline and is led by dedicated faculty members who are committed to academic excellence, the elevation of critical thinking skills, and personal, spiritual, and intellectual growth. GNU is committed to:

- Christ-centered academic excellence
- Embracing change and diversity for the establishment of strategic and collaborative partnerships
- Research and inquiry in an assessment and data-driven academic culture
- Lifelong learning, social skills, and servant leadership development
- Using effective technology tools

Wisdom

Great Northern University is dedicated to cultivating an environment where students grow in their spiritual relationship with God and their interpersonal relationship with others. GNU is committed to:

- Building a Christ-centered community
- Respecting diversity and various Christian backgrounds

Community

Great Northern University is focused on serving both Christ and others. Through the development of servant-leadership, GNU empowers graduates for a life of learning, leadership, and global impact. GNU is committed to:

- Developing and modeling servant leadership in a variety of contexts
- Fostering an environment of relevant social- and self-awareness, ethics, respect, and integrity
- Instilling the value of stewardship in all aspects of life

University Student Learning Outcomes

Scholarship: Being a Disciplined Learner

- Exhibiting effective communication in all spheres.
- Demonstrating critical, creative, and analytic thinking skills.

Wisdom: Embracing a Christ-like Identity

- Articulating a biblical, theological foundation for life
- Contributing skillfully and resourcefully in primary fields of study.

Community: Pursuing Servant-minded Leadership

- Competently serving interculturally and cross-culturally
- Demonstrating investment in local communities (such as church and city).

Field Education

Undergraduate students must complete 30 volunteer hours of practical experience each semester. Students will collaborate with a faculty advisor in determining what field opportunities will support their area of study, and in coordinating with specific agencies or other community partners, to facilitate the field education. Field education is a non-credit graduation requirement for students. This pass / fail component is required each fall and spring semester that a student is enrolled in a minimum of 9 credits; if successfully completed, internship courses will fulfill one semester of field education. Students who fail a semester of field education need to attain a passing grade prior to graduation. Make-up field education credits are at the discretion and direction of faculty advisors in conjunction with the Provost's Office. Further information about field education will be provided on the GNU website.

ADMISSIONS

Admission to the University

The University accepts applications from graduates of secondary schools (or those who have completed the G.E.D.), graduated home-school students, and transferring college students. For high school students interested in dual enrollment, please contact admissions@greatnorthernu.org for information about our pilot program. Great Northern University, in compliance with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 (Higher Education Act), does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, or national or ethnic origin in any of its policies, practices or procedures. This provision includes but is not limited to admission, employment, financial aid, and education services.

Permission to enroll at GNU is a privilege and carries with it certain responsibilities. The University reserves the right to cancel enrollment and to require withdrawal whenever it becomes evident that the student is not conforming to the standards of scholarship and conduct established by the University. Students seeking admission should become aware of the mission and objectives of the University when making application.

Admission Criteria / Requirements:

| CRITERIA | ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS |
|-------------------------------|---|
| APPLICATION | COMPLETED APPLICATION |
| HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION OR GED | GPA 2.0 |
| COLLEGE GPA | GPA 2.0 |
| STANDARDIZED EXAMS | While GNU sets no minimum scores for acceptance to the University, we do suggest submission of scores from any standardized exams you may have taken, including the SAT/ACT. This information helps us get a full picture of the applicant. |

Admission Process

Stage One: Student Tasks

Students seeking admission to Great Northern University must:

- 1) Complete a Basic Application Form (online submission) including two references:
 - a. One academic reference. This reference must be from a current or former teacher who can testify to academic abilities.
 - b. One Christian character reference. Examples of individuals providing this reference could be coaches, pastors, parents of friends, employers, or counselors (may not be a family member).
 - c. Personal testimony of faith (attached document or may also be recorded by admissions staff).
 - d. Writing Sample (please see criteria in application). GNU sets no minimum standard for a writing sample. This sample will indicate the student's current skill level and inform the academic team of potential need for additional writing support.
 - e. Agree to the Code of Belief and Conduct for Great Northern University

Stage Two: Review of Documentation and Interview

All admissions documents will be reviewed by a committee of two persons from among the faculty, staff, and administration. At least one member of that committee will be a faculty member. Following the acceptance of these documents and satisfactory communication with references, an approximately 30-minute phone or face-to-face interview will be scheduled between the prospective student and an appropriate member of the GNU faculty or staff to assess institutional fit.

Admissions Communications

Applicants will be notified via official email by the committee at the following stages:

- 1) Successful submission of documents
- 2) Acceptance of documents and satisfactory communication with references (with request for face-to-face or phone interview)
- 3) Admittance / rejection

Admissions Timeline

- 1) The timespan between successful submission of documents and admittance or rejection shall be no more than 2 weeks.
- 2) For the 2021–2022 academic year, the application deadline (meaning: deadline to submit documents) is available on the GNU website.

Extra-institutional credit

Extra-institutional credit earned through the validation of learning acquired by means other than the completion of college-level courses may be accepted at GNU and applied to degree programs as determined by the Office of the Registrar in consultation with the dean of the appropriate college. The following extra- institutional credit may be accepted at GNU and applied to the transcript.

Advanced Placement (AP)

GNU accepts credit for advanced placement exam scores (score of 3 or higher) as recommended by the College Board. Credit will be recorded on the transcript.

CLEP (College Level Examination Program) and Equivalency Exams

GNU students can earn college credit through CLEP Subject Examinations with the College Board or through GNU-administered course equivalency tests. GNU students may earn up to 30 semester hours of combined prior learning or credit by examination, including CLEP.

If the student scores at the recommended level, credit is recorded on the GNU transcript.

College Board CLEP exams are available in more than 30 subjects and are administered monthly at more than 1,000 colleges and testing centers. These exams include multiple-choice and essay components. Students can take the exams at any Open Testing Center. To locate an Open Testing Center, students should visit the College Board website: www.collegeboard.org. For reporting CLEP scores, students should use GNU's college code, which is 7625.

Credit by Examination

In rare cases, students can petition to receive credit by examination. Forms are available from the Registrar. Credit by examination is typically given only in the case of languages and mathematics.

Military Experience

Veterans who meet the requirements for admission will be allowed advanced standing to the extent that their experience in the armed forces is applicable to the regular curriculum they expect to follow in college. The Guide to the Evaluation of Educational Experience in the Armed Forces issued by the American Council on Education will be followed in evaluating the applicant's educational experiences for such advanced standing.

Military Transcripts

Air Force (CCAF Transcript) is handled as a regular transcript, mailed to:

Great Northern University, ATTN: Registrar
611 E. Indiana Ave.
Spokane, WA 99207

Or

Registrar@GreatNorthernU.org

Acceptance

Upon receipt of the completed application and interview, references, and all transcripts, the institution will determine the applicant's eligibility for admission. Upon acceptance the student will be notified by the Admissions Office. If grades, transcripts, or academic reference indicate a likelihood of academic difficulty, the student may be accepted on Academic Probation.

Students may be provisionally accepted under probation due to incomplete documents, lower GPA, and other concerns about the student's ability to complete a degree program. Probation will include some restrictions on number of credits attempted and extra-curricular activities as communicated in writing by the Office of the Registrar.

Re-admission

Students who have not been enrolled at GNU for more than one year must apply for readmission to the University.

New Student Orientation

New student orientation is required for all students beginning their first semester at Great Northern University. The orientation is conducted at the beginning of the fall and spring semesters. A student who fails to report on the date scheduled and complete orientation may be denied admission. During this vital registration and orientation time, students are introduced to the University, its college management software, college communication services, lifestyle, and activities.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Tuition and Fees

GNU endeavors to keep the costs of an education as reasonable as possible. The expense of educating each student is well in excess of the amount the student contributes through fees. Gifts from the sponsoring sources, alumni, and friends help the student by providing much of the funds needed for a student's education. Current tuition and fees are included on the GNU website.

Tuition for 2021-2022 academic year is $520 / semester credit hour.

No other fees will be charged during the 2021-2022 academic year.

For full-time students enrolled in a minimum of 12 semester credit hours, the estimated cost for books, supplies, and other course materials is $500 per semester.

Cancellation of Courses

Any course cancellations by the institution will be announced within two weeks of the start of the semester. Students will be notified in a timely manner, two weeks before the semester start when possible. Students should seek out their Faculty Advisor for recommendations for schedule modification.

Tuition Refunds

Tuition refunds following withdrawal from the University or dropping a course are subject to the following schedule:

Full Refund: Before classes officially begin and during the first week of classes

80% Refund: During the second full week of classes

60% Refund: During the third full week of classes

40% Refund: During the fourth full week of classes

No Refund: After the end of the fourth full week of classes

Note: Students can still receive a "W" for withdrawal until 60% of the semester is completed.

Payment Expectations (Student Accounts)

GNU believes that learning sound financial stewardship is a vital part of the University experience. All students have access to their student account balance through the institutional portal, Populi. Secure login information for the student portal is provided upon admission to GNU. Students are expected to track their balance through Populi and maintain current financial accounts.

Students are expected to arrange for the payment of tuition and fees each semester before they attend any class. Therefore, all institutional financial aid possibilities should be explored far in advance of the start of the semester, and students and their families are expected to provide financial assistance. Students are encouraged to contact the GNU Registrar for assistance at any time for information about institutional financial aid, student loans, and scholarships.

Great Northern University authorizes its federal aid administrators to use professional judgment in making determinations, so if you have unusual financial circumstances or contributing factors, please contact Jmills@GreatNorthernU.org or KHills@GreatNorthernU.org.

For any outstanding balance in a student's account that is not / will not be covered by institutional financial aid and cannot be paid in full before the first payment deadline, students will have the option of arranging to pay by payment plan. Students must verify their intent to pay by signing an enrollment agreement form in Populi. Details for a payment plan and payment due dates can be found in Populi or by contacting the Registrar.

If students have not established a verified payment plan with the business office by the first payment deadline, they will be dropped from classes. Students may re-enroll after making the first payment, but GNU will not be held liable for resulting schedule changes that may occur due to class filling, class closures or cancellations.

Students who have not satisfied their financial obligations by the end of the semester will not be allowed to enroll in classes for the following semester.

Currently, GNU is not able to accept federal student loans. Additionally, students with outstanding loans may need to begin repaying loans during their time at GNU.

For Washington State residents seeking information and resources about student loan repayment or seeking to submit a complaint relating to your student loans or student loan servicer, please visit www.wsac.wa.gov/loan-advocacy or contact the Student Loan Advocate at loanadvocate@wsac.wa.gov.

GNU Housing

Great Northern University takes pride in providing a unique residence housing experience. Our residence housing maximizes a student's ability to grow in community with other students, while also helping them develop real-life skills. By the time our students graduate, they are experts at living in an urban environment, and they have become proficient at managing purposeful relationships with others.

GNU strives to offer student housing at an affordable rate for the Spokane area. For more information about student housing, please see our website:

<https://www.greatnorthernu.org/about/student-life/housing/> or contact our Campus Life Coordinator at rdeakin@greatnorthernu.org.

VETERANS BENEFITS

Great Northern University is proud to participate in the following programs:

- Montgomery GI Bill® - Active Duty (Chapter 30)
- Montgomery GI Bill® - Selected Reserve (Chapter 1606)
- Post-9/11 GI Bill® (Chapter 33)
- Survivors and Dependents Educational Assistance Program (Chapter 35)
- Reserve Educational Assistance Program (Chapter 1607)
- Vocational Rehabilitation - Veterans with Disabilities (Chapter 31)
- Tuition Assistance

GI Bill® is a registered trademark of the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA). More information about education benefits offered by VA is available at the official U.S. government website at <http://www.benefits.va.gov/gibill>.

Note: The VA has seven different chapters so the student needs to know from which chapter they receive funds.

- The file number for Chapter 35 is the donor's social security number.
- The file number for Chapter 33 is the recipient's (student's) social security number.
- The file number for all other chapters is the student's social security number.

Applying for Veterans Educational Benefits

The Department of Veterans Affairs administers programs for veterans seeking assistance for education and training. If you are a veteran, or a dependent of a veteran, and plan to receive educational benefits as determined by the Department of Veterans Affairs, contact the Great Northern University Registrar at registrar@greatnorthernu.org and primary VA Certifying Official, Dr. Jennifer Mills, by email at jmills@greatnorthernu.org, once you have done the following:

1. Go to <https://www.va.gov/education/> for information and learn how to apply for and manage educational benefits

2. Submit the following information to the Registrar:
 - a. Certificate of Eligibility from the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs
3. The Registrar will then submit an online form certifying that you are a student at Great Northern, the number of credits you are registered for, and make changes to your record, if necessary. You must notify the Registrar's Office if you change your enrollment to part time.

Benefits usually begin six to eight weeks after initial certification.

Keeping your Benefits

VA students are responsible for notifying the Registrar, Kathy Hills, of their enrollment plans each semester at Great Northern. All students receiving VA benefits have the responsibility to notify the Registrar of any changes in credit hours enrolled once the semester begins. Failure to notify the Registrar may result in incorrect payment for which the veteran will be held liable.

VA benefits will also be contingent on Great Northern's Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy.

VA students should check carefully with the Registrar or Financial Aid Advisor if contemplating repeating a course, withdrawing from Great Northern, dropping a class, electing to take a delayed grade or interrupting class attendance.

Educational Advising

Each student has an individual educational plan on Populi that includes transfer credits accepted from other institutions and how/if those credits apply to the student's major, general education requirements or elective credits so students can self-monitor their progress to completion. This plan is available to the student upon matriculation and initial registration at Great Northern University. The service member is responsible for providing this information to their Service's education office.

Finally, students are assigned an advisor and have the freedom to change that assignment at any time after the first term. This advisor meets with the student to discuss the educational plan each term.

Military Leave

A student who is called to active duty, or a student with a dependent child whose spouse is called to active duty, during a term has the following options:

- Withdraw from all current term courses and receive a full refund of tuition and fees. If the student received federal financial aid, the Financial Aid Office will calculate the amount of earned and unearned federal aid according to the standard federal Return of Title IV Funds. Tuition Assistance refunds will be issued to the Department of Defense rather than the student.
- Make arrangements with individual faculty members for final course grades, or for incompletes that shall be completed upon release from active duty. If such arrangements are made, the student's registration will remain intact and tuition and fees will be assessed in full.

- Make arrangements with only some of faculty for final grades or incompletes that shall be completed upon release from active duty. If such an arrangement is made, the registration for those courses shall remain intact and tuition and fees will be assessed for those courses. Any courses for which arrangements cannot be made for grades or incompletes will be considered dropped and the tuition and mandatory fees for those courses will be refunded.

Readmission from Active Service

Great Northern complies with Readmission Requirements for Service Members as outlined in the Higher Education Opportunity Act (HEOA) Section 487. The HEOA guarantees that a prompt readmission of a previously enrolled or admitted student may not be denied to a service member of the uniformed services for reasons relating to that service. This applies to active duty in the Armed Forces, whether voluntary or involuntary, including service under federal authority as a member of the National Guard or Reserve, for a period of more than 30 days.

A qualifying service member will be readmitted:

- To the same program, unless the service member requests or agrees to admission to another program;
- At the same enrollment status (for example, full-time), unless the service member requests or agrees to a different enrollment status;
- With the same number of course credits completed, unless the service member is admitted to a different program and the credits are not transferable;
- With same academic standing (for example, satisfactory academic progress status);
- For the first academic year, with the same tuition and fee charges as when the servicemember left, unless military benefits will pay the increase, but never more than the university is charging other students.

Section 103 Compliance Policy

Great Northern University abides by Section 103 of the Veterans Benefits and Transition Act of 2018. Our educational policy ensures that no penalty will be imposed including: 1) the assessment of late fees; 2) the denial of access to classes; 3) libraries or other institutional facilities and/or 4) the requirements that a Chapter 31 or Chapter 33 recipient borrow additional funds to cover the individual's inability to meet his or her financial obligations to the institution due to a delayed disbursement of payment by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs.

Veterans Refund Policy

Great Northern University's Veterans Refund Policy complies with CFR 21.4255. In the event the veteran or eligible person fails to enter the course, withdraws, or is dismissed at any time prior to completion, any unused portion of tuition, fees, and other charges is refunded. Any amount in excess of $10 of the application/registration fee is subject to proration. The amount charged will not exceed the exact prorata portion of total charges. The length of the completed portion of the course will be prorated over its total length, and the exact proration will be determined by the ratio of the number of days of instruction completed by the student, to the total number of instructional days in the course. Refunds are made within 40 days of the last date of the student's attendance.

THE GNU COMMUNITY LIFESTYLE

Students are welcome regardless of denomination, race, sex, color, nationality, or disability in compliance with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 (Higher Education Act). This provision includes but is not limited to admission, employment, institutional financial aid, and educational services.

Attendance in this University is a privilege granted to the student and not a right of the student. That privilege can be withdrawn through the established disciplinary process of the University to safeguard its ideals of scholarship or the moral atmosphere assumed by this lifestyle. Therefore, the student's enrollment at GNU constitutes a commitment to accept the standards of this lifestyle.

GNU Community Covenant

The University is dedicated to providing a Christ-centered education that will promote the growth of the whole person. The University is a Christian institution, and it maintains reliance upon a strong campus community. Clear expectations help the members of the community live in unity. By the action of matriculation and registration at GNU, students voluntarily enter an educational community with standards of academic honesty and respect for persons and property and Christian-principled living. In choosing to enroll in the University, students agree to hold themselves responsible in their conduct to those standards as stated in the Community Life Code of Conduct and the Student Code of Conduct.

Code of Belief and Conduct—Community Life Code of Conduct

As a campus community, Great Northern University has many values that give direction to the way we believe we should live when together on campus and in our daily lives. These values are connected to our obligation and desire to live Godly lives as described in Scripture. We wish to pursue God's best with joyful hearts. We also know that we are imperfect in how we follow God's ways, and we must speak into each other's lives when that happens; sometimes with necessary consequences while maintaining grace and forgiveness with a goal of restoration. Here are community values that we will hold before one another:

Honesty – academically and personally. As Christ-followers, gathered at the GNU campus for personal, vocational and academic training, we must be people who can be thoroughly trusted. This must be consistent when we teach, in the way in which assignments are completed and in how we speak to one another. Plagiarism and cheating both undermine honesty. (Ephesians 4:15, 25)

Edifying language. Our words have such power to encourage and build each other up. As we choose our words carefully, we have the opportunity to be a community that is consistently 'better' because of the words of truth and encouragement and hope we speak to one another. This is just as true in our written words over email and social media. We also must resolve to develop effective interpersonal communication skills for confrontation, problem-solving, and setting appropriate boundaries. (Ephesians 4:29-32; 5:4)

Discernment in dress and appearance. How we present our physical selves to the world can make a profound statement. We want to strive for an appearance that reflects uncompromising moral values, a statement of professionalism and an expression of the personal value that is ours as God's image-bearers. This would include choosing clothing that is clean and well-kept and not sensual in design. (1 Timothy 2:9-10)

Respect and appreciation of the differences amongst all members of our community. Our differences in ethnicity, race, gender, customs, and traditions are a privilege to experience. We will embrace these differences in order to learn from, honor and enjoy one another. (Galatians 3:28; Acts 17:26-27)

Church involvement. GNU is not a church. Each of us must be involved in a local, Bible believing church. Participation in a local church is crucial for expression of worship, personal discipleship and mentoring, and use of one's gifts for the benefit of the body of Christ. (Hebrews 10:23-25; Romans 12:1-8)

Marriage and sexual purity. In accordance with, and as defined by, our Policy Statement on Social issues members of the GNU community must affirm that sexual conduct is meant for marriage, and sexual misconduct is a violation of this Code of Belief and Conduct. Members of the GNU community must conduct themselves with sexual purity and marital fidelity by rejecting sexual immorality, as defined in that policy.

Appropriate drug, alcohol, and other substance use. Use of alcohol must follow all applicable laws and be used in moderation, not ever to interfere with learning or employment, serving Christ and His Church, or each individual's witness. Alcohol is prohibited in and on campus without reservation; Alcohol consumption and possession is also prohibited in GNU residence houses. GNU consists of students over and under the legal age limits; those who are of age are expected to manage that freedom wisely. Illegal use of tobacco, prescription drugs, and recreational drugs, (including marijuana) in any form is prohibited for GNU members at all times. Although there are legal uses of marijuana in the state of Washington, its recreational use is also prohibited for all members of GNU at all times, while enrolled or employed at GNU, except when medically prescribed. GNU community members are also expected to practice good nutrition, and pursue bodily health in their dietary choices, so as to honor their bodies (Romans 13:13; Ephesians 5:18).

Healthy recreation and entertainment. Many forms of recreation and entertainment are enjoyable and edifying and necessary for physical, emotional and spiritual health. We wish to celebrate sports, the arts, and enjoyment of God's creation. At the same time, some expressions of the arts display mankind's fallen nature and can be destructive and dishonoring to God. We will purpose to use wise discernment in the engagement of the internet, music, dance, drama and movies, comedy, literature, television and video games. (Philippians 4:8; Colossians 3:17)

Weapons-free campus. The possession or use of any type of weapon on GNU's campus or university housing is prohibited. Weapons include, but are not limited to: firearms, ammunition, martial arts weapons, bows and arrows, swords, knives with blades over 4", stun guns, and explosives of any type. Anyone found in possession of any unauthorized weapon on campus or in university housing may be subject to disciplinary or criminal proceedings.

The practice of wise personal discretion. With the desire for students, staff and faculty to have a strong testimony before God and others, we expect the exercise of personal discretion from one another. The following discerning questions are the type that develop wise personal discretion:

- Will this violate the revealed will of God?
- Is this good stewardship of time and resources?
- Will this help me to follow Christ and grow in His likeness?
- Will this help my brothers and sisters follow Christ and grow in His likeness?
- Will this feed a known weakness or sinful tendency?

Because Great Northern University is a community built on biblical principles and comprised of growing individuals, a disciplinary process exists to create redemptive and educational outcomes from community life violations. A student who intentionally or unknowingly violates GNU's community values will follow a process which involves, at minimum, meeting directly with Student Services Officer, who will facilitate a judicial process. As this process is relational in nature, our hope is to foster growth in the individual while also balancing the health of the community.

While forgiveness does not mean an absence of consequences, it does mean that the relationship is mended and restored. Consequences may include campus community service, fines, probations, accountability groups/persons, counseling, suspension, dismissal, or whatever is deemed necessary. All disciplinary decisions will be made after careful consideration of what is best for the community and the student. Consistency will be strived for in dealing with particular actions and situations.

Student Conduct Code

The purpose of the Student Code of Conduct is to express community standards of honesty, respect for persons and property, and responsible use of freedom. The Code reflects the University's mission and identity, and it exists to guide conduct, safeguarding and promoting the University's educational activity.

Academic Integrity

GNU is an academic community deeply engaged in inquiry and intellectual exchange and is committed to the core principles of academic freedom and academic integrity. Violations of Academic Integrity include plagiarism, misuse of sources, and cheating. See "Academic Integrity Code," page 36 in this catalog for a detailed description.

Social Misconduct

GNU students are held responsible for their conduct at all times, adhering to Christian standards on and off campus. Any student who fails to meet chapel requirements of 80% attendance during a semester, becomes disorderly, is involved in any disturbance, interferes with the rights of others, damages property, or is involved in unacceptable social behavior individually or as a member of a group on or off campus shall be subject to disciplinary action by the Academic Standards and Student Concerns Committee.

Disciplinary Process

The Academic Standards and Student Concerns Committee (ASSCC), will serve as the key administrators in the disciplinary process. Complaints or concerns about academic integrity or social misconduct should to be submitted to the Student Services Officer who will direct them to the Academic Standards and Student Concerns Committee.

Students whose misconduct is addressed through an ASSCC hearing have an opportunity to offer their account of the events in question and can provide the Committee with relevant information which might explain the conduct. Only the student and the Committee will attend this meeting. The Committee may follow up by requesting additional written statements, at the Committee's discretion. Students charged with misconduct have an opportunity to respond to information provided by others.

The ASSCC deliberates in closed session to determine whether a violation of University policy has occurred. The Committee also decides what penalties, if any, are to be imposed.

The range of possible consequences for not fulfilling the expectations for student conduct are described below. In each case, factors such as the nature and gravity of the incident, the motivation underlying the behavior, the student's disciplinary history, the impact of the behavior on the educational community, and precedent in similar cases will be considered in determining the appropriate disciplinary action(s).

Disciplinary actions can include the following and can occur in any order:

- 1) POSITIVE ACTIONS: Positive actions are required activities intended to engage the student in a positive learning experience related to the student's inappropriate behavior and allow students to reflect upon their inappropriate behavior. This type of disciplinary action may include, but is not limited to, attending, or presenting a program related to the implications of the student's conduct, writing a paper, interviewing someone, or engaging in some type of personal assessment, mediation, or counseling.
- 2) UNIVERSITY WARNING: A university warning is a formal notice that the behavior or set of behaviors is inappropriate and violates the basic expectations of students as set forth by GNU. A letter of warning is placed in the student's file and may be considered if the student engages in further inappropriate behavior.

- 3) RESTITUTION: Restitution is compensation required of students who engage in the theft, misuse, damage, or destruction of institutional, group, or private property. The amount of restitution is dependent on the extent of damage and the most appropriate way for a student to make amends for the damage he/she caused. The amount, form, and method of payment for restitution are decided by the Student Services Officer in conjunction with the ASSCC.
- 4) LIMITATIONS ON ACTIVITIES: Limitations on activities are assigned because the prohibition from participation in certain activities has been determined to be in the best interest of the student and/or the university. For example, limitations on activities may include a fixed period of ineligibility for service as an officer or member of any university organizations or as a member of any university committees.
- 5) UNIVERSITY PROBATION: University probation or chapel probation is a formal notice to the student that he/she has engaged in behavior that is unacceptable within the university community. If continued, or if other inappropriate behavior follows, more severe action may be taken, including the possibility of dismissal or expulsion from the university. Probation is for a fixed period of time.
- 6) DISMISSAL: Dismissal from the university involves the exclusion of the student from participation in any academic or other activities of the university for a specified period. When a student has concluded the dismissal period and completed the conditions accompanying the dismissal, he/she must submit a letter to the Student Services Officer or his/her designee requesting reinstatement and provide evidence that he/she has satisfied the terms of the dismissal. The student may return to the university only after an affirmative decision has been made by the Student Services Officer or his/her designee.
- 7) EXPULSION: Expulsion is the most serious university disciplinary action and involves the permanent exclusion of the student from the university. Any student expelled from the university must refrain from visiting the university premises unless engaged in official business approved in writing by the Student Services Officer or his/her designee.
- 8) POSTPONEMENT OF ACTIVITY PARTICIPATION AND CONFERRING OF HONORS AND DEGREES: The university reserves the right to delay or postpone the involvement of a student in any university-related activity or delay or postpone the conferring of any honor or degree during the student's participation in any conduct review procedures or resulting actions administered by the appropriate authorities outlined here.

Non-Academic Student Complaint Policy

Great Northern University is committed to respecting all members of our university community and providing a quality educational experience for all students. The objective of the Student Non-Academic Complaint Policy is to ensure that the grievances and complaints of the undergraduate students are addressed fairly and are resolved promptly. Grievances or complaints related to this policy are usually the result of behavior that the student feels is unjust, inequitable, or creates an unnecessary hardship. Students may file grievances or complaints if they believe a problem is not governed by other GNU complaint or appeal procedures.

If there is a question regarding which appeal or complaint procedure is the most appropriate, students should contact the Student Services Office. After consulting with the student, the Student Services Officer or representative will direct the student to the most appropriate procedure.

Dr. Craig Ferderer, Student Services Officer
Great Northern University
ATTN: Student Services Office
611 E. Indiana Ave.
Spokane, WA 99207
cferderer@greatnorthernu.org

Great Northern University complies with generally accepted standards and policies governed by federal agencies, including incidents related to sexual, racial, and other harassment, hate crimes, or bias-related behaviors. If a GNU student has a non-academic grievance or complaint, the student may present the grievance or complaint according to the provisions of the student Non-Academic Complaint Process (e.g., prejudices against personal characteristics, un-Christian comments by faculty members, or heretical teachings). The three steps of the grievance/complaint and appeal process are defined below.

Step 1: Direct Appeal to Professor or Advocate

It may be appropriate for a student to approach a professor directly. However, we recognize that power dynamics are such that the biblical model for confrontation of an authority figure (rather than confrontation of a brother/sister) may serve as the basis for this process. In such cases, it is appropriate for the student to speak first with an advocate, in this instance the Dean of Student Services of the University. If the Dean of Student Services is the professor toward whom the complaint or grievance is levied, the appropriate Academic Dean will fill this role. The Dean of Student Services (or Academic Dean) is required to maintain written records of the process up to and beyond this point.

Step 2: Seeking Resolution

The Dean of Student Services (or Academic Dean) will make all reasonable attempt(s) to communicate with both parties in order to resolve the issue.

Step 3: Appeal to the Academic Standards and Student Concerns Committee (ASSCC)

If resolution is not possible (or acceptable), any of the parties can request an appeal to the ASSCC. The Dean of Student Services (or Academic Dean) will make that appeal. The decisions of the ASSCC are final.

Note: Given the occasionally blurred lines between academic and personal complaints and grievances, Academic Deans (or Provost) and Dean of Student Services (or Academic Dean) may involve the other at their discretion.

Further Resources

Should the student feel the complaint was not adequately resolved, the following state and federal agencies may be contacted:

- i. "The Washington Student Achievement Council (WSAC) has the authority to investigate student complaints against specific schools. WSAC may not be able to investigate every student complaint. Visit <http://www.wsac.wa.gov/student-complaints> for information regarding the WSAC complaint process."

Before submitting a complaint form, please note the following:

- Students must complete the school's complaint process before submitting a complaint to the WSAC.
- If a complaint is within WSAC's jurisdiction, a student will be required to provide documentation that he / she has completed the school's complaint process – including any provisions for appeals.
- WSAC cannot investigate complaints regarding grades, disciplinary actions, or conduct unless a student can provide evidence that the school has not followed published procedures or policies.
- WSAC will not accept anonymous complaints or complaints that are currently in litigation.
- Be advised that copies of complaints will be made available to the school involved and may be made available to other federal, state or private agencies, and—upon request—to members of the public.

For issues related to discrimination, contact the Washington State Human Rights Commission at https://www.hum.wa.gov/discrimination-complaint?page_name=complaintProcess.

REGISTRATION POLICIES

Registration includes academic advisement, enrollment into classes, and arranging payments of tuition and fees. Students failing to complete registration processes by the end of the scheduled registration period may be denied admission. (See also Financial Information)

Auditing Courses

In order to audit a course, the appropriate permissions should be submitted to the Registrar. The fee will be $75 per credit hour.

Declaration of Major

A degree program must be chosen within the first year at the university. Students may request a change of major in consultation with the student's Faculty Advisor. Students may request a change of major with an email to the Registrar. All degree requirements listed in the catalog in effect at the time of the student's declaration of major must be met for conferral of that degree. Students may be required to take more than the total number of credit hours prescribed by the degree requirements of the program.

Transfer Credit Policies

Transferability Statement

The transferability of credits earned at GNU is at the discretion of the receiving college, university, or other educational institution. Students considering transferring to any institution should not assume that credits earned in any program of study at GNU will be accepted by the receiving institution. Similarly, the ability of a degree, certificate, diploma, or other academic credential earned at GNU to satisfy an admission requirement of another institution is at the discretion of the receiving institution. Accreditation does not guarantee credentials or credits earned at GNU will be accepted by or transferred to another institution. To minimize the risk of having to repeat coursework, students should contact the receiving institution in advance for evaluation and determination of the transferability of credits and / or acceptability of degrees, diplomas, or certificates earned.

GNU will accept transfer credit from regionally, nationally, and internationally accredited colleges, including colleges accredited by the Association of Biblical Higher Education (ABHE). Great Northern University also accepts credits from international institutions that are state chartered or recognized by their respective Ministry of Education / Higher Education or covered by the European Credit Transfer and Accumulation System (ECTS) through the Bologna Process.

A grade of "C" or higher must be achieved in all transferred courses to count toward the degree. Grade requirements for all other transfer credit hours must meet program grade requirements equal to those applied to non-transfer students at GNU in order to transfer and count toward the degree.

Limited credit from non-accredited institutions of higher education may be applied to the degree requirements on a course-by-course basis after careful review of applicability to degree program, typically using credit-by-examination. All courses accepted from nationally accredited or non-accredited institutions must carry a grade of "C" (2.0) or better.

Lower-division courses (freshmen and sophomore level) may transfer as equivalencies and substitutions for GNU lower-division courses on the approval of the Registrar based on course descriptions. Course content needs to meet the learning outcomes of the corresponding course. If denied, appeals may be submitted to the Provost.

Lower-division courses may transfer as equivalencies for GNU upper-division courses (junior and senior level) if the course content and student learning objectives are deemed equivalent as approved by the Dean of the student's academic program. However, transferred lower-division courses will not be counted in the total number of required upper-division credit hours required to graduate. (See "Graduation Requirements" for upper-division credit hour requirements.)

Courses related to biblical interpretation, textual criticism, and hermeneutics will not transfer to fulfill the religious literacy requirements at GNU without written authorization from the Dean of the Communication and Theology College.

Transfer Credits and Grades on the Transcript

All credit hours accepted for transfer will be recorded on the GNU transcripts once official transcripts from transferring institutions are received. Only those courses that are deemed equivalent by the Registrar and / or College Dean of the field of study will count toward degree completion.

Credit hours will not be placed on the transcript until all official transcripts from other institutions are received. Unofficial transcripts can be used for an initial degree evaluation and enrollment, but, if all official transcripts are not received, the courses will not be transferred to the student's transcript, which will affect institutional financial aid and graduation. All transcripts must be submitted at least one semester prior to graduation.

All courses transferred to the GNU transcript will not be calculated in the term or cumulative GPA.

Courses that will not be accepted as transfer credits without an articulation agreement include:

- 1) Courses considered remedial or below college level
- 2) Repeated courses or courses with duplicate subject content

- 3) Coursework earned at an institution that did not hold at least candidacy status with its regional accrediting association when the coursework was taken and / or did not have an articulation agreement on file with GNU at the time courses were taken
- 4) Continuing education units

Transfer Equivalency Appeals Process

Students may appeal to the Office of the Registrar in writing for a class to be reevaluated that was not accepted in the initial transfer of credits. A course description and, if possible, a syllabus from the transferring institution must accompany the petition. If the petition is granted, the student will be notified and the course will be made equivalent on the student's degree audit. If the petition is not granted, the student may appeal in writing to the Dean of the college in the student's major. The Dean's decision on the matter is final.

Calculation of Transfer Credit Hours

Credit hours transferring from institutions operating on a semester or trimester academic calendar will be calculated on a 1:1 ratio. Credit hours transferring from a quarter hour academic calendar will be calculated as: number of quarter credit hours divided by 1.5 (e.g., 5 quarter credit hour = 3 semester credits). Credit hours transferring from a contact hour institution will be calculated as 37.5:1 ratio.

Transfer Credit Hour Limits

The total number of transfer credit hours from colleges not offering bachelor's degrees (a.k.a. junior colleges or 2-year colleges) that can be applied to bachelor's degree requirements is limited to 64. Students may transfer credit hours from 4-year colleges beyond the 64 credit hours as long as requirements at GNU are met.

Degree Transfer

Associate's degrees from other institutions may or may not transfer as a completed degree to GNU. Associate's courses will be evaluated course by course to qualify for transfer. Additional courses in the General Education area might still be required as a part of the curricula for the bachelor's degree sought.

Bachelor's degrees from other institutions will be transferred if the student is seeking a second bachelor's degree. (See Second Bachelor Degree)

Military Experience Credit

Please see Extra-Institutional Credit Section for more information.

Changes in Registration (Add / Drop / Withdraw)

Students are permitted to request changes to their schedules according to the policies listed below. Changes will not become effective until the proper registration procedures have been followed and financial adjustments have been made.

Withdrawal from the University

If it becomes necessary for a student to withdraw from the University after the drop period and before the end of the semester, the student must meet with the Registrar or other designated official to request a withdrawal from all courses. The withdrawal is not complete until the documentation has been submitted. (See also Unofficial Withdrawal for Attendance).

Adding Classes

Classes may be added during the schedule adjustment period which begins the first day of classes and continues through the first full week of classes. No classes may be added after this time without the approval of the College Dean.

Dropping Classes

Unofficial Drop Policy: Dropping from a class or classes can occur during the allowed drop period (typically the first week of class.) Dropping from a class during the drop / add period will remove any evidence of the student's enrollment in the class. There will be no enrollment record on the student's transcript.

Students must notify the Registrar's Office in writing after the end of the drop period in order for the class(es) to be removed from the student's schedule. A partial refund will be given according to the established refund schedule published by GNU. (See Tuition Refunds in the Financial Section.)

Official Drop

An official drop occurs when the student notifies the Registrar in writing of intent to drop from at least one class or from the University. Communicating with an official of the University other than the Registrar does not constitute an official drop. The Registrar's Office must receive written notification for the drop from the student, which ensures that records reflect the student's intentions accurately.

An official drop will be effective as of the date of the student's request. Retroactive official drop will not be permitted.

An official drop will not relieve the student of financial obligations for the classes associated with the drop. The grade on the transcript for an official drop will be "W."

Administrative Drop / Withdrawal

An administrative drop / withdrawal may be requested by an instructor and / or other University official in the best interest of the student. The decision for administrative withdrawal will be made by the University Provost or Student Services Officer and communicated to the student in writing in a timely manner. For an administrative withdrawal, a "W" will be reflected on the student's transcript if the drop occurs after the open add/drop period.

Possible reasons for administrative drop / withdrawal include but are not limited to the following:

- 1) Failure to verify enrollment (make first semester payment)
- 2) Student conduct infractions
- 3) Emergency medical issues
- 4) Improper registration in classes
- 5) Financial hardship

Students will be responsible for whatever costs are incurred as determined by the administration up to the point of the administrative decision.

Unofficial Drop / Withdrawal

An unofficial drop / withdrawal occurs when a student fails to officially withdraw / drop. There are several types of unofficial drop / withdrawal that have varying consequences. They are as follows:

When a student fails to officially withdraw but stops attending classes, the student will be considered unofficially withdrawn as of the last date of attendance and will remain enrolled in the class through the duration of the class. The grade on the transcript will reflect the final grade earned for the totality of the coursework. Retroactive official withdrawal will not be permitted without administrative approval from the Provost.

If a student does not attend a class during the first two weeks of the semester, the student will be automatically dropped from the class as a "no show." The student might be responsible for partial costs due to failure to officially drop.

Passive Withdrawal

A student who fails to enroll in continuous semesters without following official withdrawal / military leave of absence procedures will be considered unofficially withdrawn as of the last date of attendance. Students who do not enroll in courses after one year must seek readmission for subsequent enrollment and will be subject to the catalog of the year in which the student re-enrolls.

Registration Appeal Process

Students may appeal an add / drop / withdrawal decision following the procedure below:

- 1) Submit a written appeal to the Office of the Registrar, including supporting documentation for the reason for the appeal.

- 2) The Registrar will consult with the appropriate senior administrator for a decision.
- 3) The decision will be communicated to the student by the senior administrator in writing in a reasonably timely manner.

Military Leave of Absence Policy

Military Leave of Absence Eligibility

Only members of the U.S. military are eligible for leave of absence under this policy. Members of other countries' militaries are not eligible.

Unless notice is precluded by military necessity, students will be eligible for consideration for a military leave of absence after submitting a request in writing to the Registrar. If the student is unable to submit this request due to deployment time frames or security issues, an appropriate officer of the Armed Forces or an official of the Department of Defense may also notify the Office of the Registrar in writing (Registrar@GreatNorthernU.org). Orders for military deployment or active duty service should accompany requests for a military leave of absence (scan and attach to email).

Military Leave of Absence Regulations

A military leave of absence allows U.S. military personnel who are students of GNU to be readmitted and resume studies in the same degree program in which they are enrolled at the time of the leave request, meaning they will not be responsible for completing new program requirements that may be implemented during the leave period.

Students granted a military leave of absence will be given a refund of tuition and fees paid during the term in which their studies are interrupted. These refunds do not mean students will not owe the school any money for the term, especially if the student took out loans to pay for tuition and fees.

Students returning from military leave of absence will have guaranteed enrollment for the term in which they return if the student is granted readmission under this policy.

Military Leave of Absence Readmission

The cumulative length of the absence and all previous absences from the University for serving in the U.S. military cannot exceed five years, including the time the student spent actually performing military service and any recovery time for injuries sustained during military service.

Veterans seeking admission to a different program are not eligible for readmission under this policy unless the original program of study is no longer offered at the University. If the program is no longer offered, the student must enroll in the replacement program or a program that is in the same field of study as the original program. Veterans who received a dishonorable or bad conduct discharge are not eligible for readmission under this policy.

Students qualify for leave-of-absence readmission after a period of at least 90 consecutive days serving in voluntary or involuntary active duty in the United States Armed Forces (including service as a member of the National Guard or Reserve on active duty, active duty for training, or full-time National Guard duty under federal authority).

To be readmitted, students must submit an Admission Application (indicate "Readmission") through the Admissions Office no later than the admission application deadline for the upcoming term. Forms are available online on the GNU website. Documentation of military separation or discharge must accompany the application. The Admissions Office will notify the Registrar's Office of the student's intent to return under this policy.

Transcript Requests

Transcript requests are processed through Populi. Please ask the Registrar for assistance if you cannot find the request in your student center.

ACADEMIC POLICIES

Great Northern University as a Christ-centered higher education institution has a clear purpose of equipping and empowering students to integrate and live a dynamic life of learning, faith, leadership, and service so that they excel and positively influence their world for Jesus Christ. The curriculum reflects that commitment and provides course selections of quality and merit to help fulfill the institutional mission. (See Mission Statement)

Students working toward a degree at GNU must complete coursework for the degree according to the requirements of the catalog in force when the major was chosen. The University's right to change degree requirements is explained in the section titled "Catalog Disclaimer."

Choice of Academic Program

All of GNU's Bachelor programs provide adequate foundation for graduate work. The programs of study leading to a bachelor's degree build upon a common core of General Education core courses and electives. The ability to understand human behavior, to evaluate the thinking of others, and to communicate clearly, are all essential for competence. Thus, the General Education courses required in each of the programs broaden the student's scope of awareness and inquiry into the knowledge of humanity and the world.

Deviation from Curriculum Requirements

In general, freshman-level courses should be taken before sophomore level; sophomore level before junior level; and junior level before senior level. A deviation from the normal requirements of a curriculum and substitutions must be approved by the faculty advisor and/or College Dean. If students opt to go against the advice provided by the faculty, they should understand that their graduation may be delayed, and they may not be permitted to participate in their anticipated Commencement ceremony. Careful consideration should be made before making decisions contrary to advising recommendations.

Second Bachelor's degree

Those students seeking a second bachelor's degree must meet all admissions and graduation requirements of a first-time degree-seeking student. To have a second degree conferred, the student must

1. Have completed the first bachelor degree at a regionally-accredited college or university.

2. Select a different degree (e.g., if the student graduated with a Bachelor of Science, the student must select a Bachelor of Arts).
3. Select a major from a different academic department than the major of the first degree. (For example, if the student's first degree and major was a Bachelor of Science in Psychology, the student may not select a Bachelor of Arts in Behavioral Science as the second degree major. Instead, the student might select a Bachelor of Arts in Biblical and Theological Studies).
4. Complete all required courses of a second degree program including any required General Education courses not completed in the first degree. General Education courses completed in a first degree do not need to be repeated. Any major course previously credited at GNU may not count toward the fulfillment of the second degree. At least 30 credit hours must be completed in courses offered through GNU of which 21 must be upper division. However, if the first degree was completed at GNU, the student need only complete 15 of the 30 credit hours through courses offered at GNU, all upper-division.
5. Complete all courses required for the second degree program at GNU including any lower division or religion courses not taken as a part of the first degree.
6. Have not earned the first degree with a double major.

Double Major

A double major can be earned when both majors lead to the same degree name (e.g., Bachelor of Arts) even if the two majors are in different departments or colleges. For example, if students complete the requirements for the B.A. in Communication and the B.A. in TESOL, students will earn a single B.A. degree with a double major. Students cannot earn a double degree when the two majors lead to the same degree name (see "Second Bachelor Degree").

The easiest way to discern the degree name is to look for the word "degree" in the name. Everything to the left of the word "degree" is the degree name. For example, in "Bachelor of Arts in Youth and Family Ministry," the degree name is "Bachelor of Arts" and the major is "Youth and Family Ministry." This major can be combined with any other Bachelor of Arts major to form a double major.

Declaring and Completing a Double Major

To declare a double major, the student must meet with the university-designated advisor, complete the appropriate form, and submit the form to the Registrar's Office. The designated advisor will work with the Registrar and Faculty Advisor of the desired majors to design a program for the double major student.

Both College Deans must sign the petition, and students must consult with Advisors from both areas of study to determine which courses will best fit with the planned course rotation in the majors and the student's future career goals. Each major is responsible for determining at least 30 credit hours of major core courses that will be required for their portion of a double major.

Double Major Requirements

Double majors require students to complete a minimum of 120 credit hours. However, depending on the scope of departmental learning objectives for each of the areas of study in the double major, students might be required to complete more than 120 credit hours. Courses that are distinctive to each major must be completed for the double major, which might increase the total number of credit hours earned for the degree.

Overlapping requirements

Overlapping requirements, or courses that can be counted as requirements for both majors, are allowed as long as double majors complete 30 non-overlapping, departmentally distinctive credit hours in each major of which 21 must be upper-division courses. Each department must be consulted for approval for courses the student hopes to count toward each major.

Graduating with a double major

Students must complete degree requirements in both majors to be awarded a degree with a double major. A student may not graduate with one major and then seek a second major after a degree is conferred. Students may, however, seek a second degree (see "Second Bachelor Degree").

All other degree requirements listed in this catalog (e.g., GPA requirements) apply to graduating with a double major.

Double major transcript, commencement program and diploma

Both majors will be visible on the official GNU transcript, but only one diploma will be issued that lists the degree and both majors. Double majors will not receive two diplomas.

Career Advising

Beginning with a student's first year at GNU, students are required to complete field education as a non-credit graduation requirement. Students will volunteer 30 hours each semester to gain experience in a variety of ministry and career opportunities. Students receive feedback, direction, and advice from their supervisor of the field experience. They have yearly conferences, at minimum, with faculty advisors to examine progress and plan for future development and career goals. In the students' final year, they receive career counseling through their internship class, which is, at minimum, three semester credit hours.

ACADEMIC ADVISING

GNU assists its students in making wise educational and vocational choices through the University advising program. Each student is assigned a faculty advisor by the department of the student's major who provides guidance concerning the student's academic program and is available to the student throughout the semester for counseling. The academic advising process of the University focuses on helping the student enroll in courses in the proper sequence, answering any special questions which might arise, and otherwise guiding the student through the entire college career. It is recommended that students visit with their faculty advisor at least once each semester to maximize assistance.

Academic Calendar

GNU operates on the semester system. Credit for work completed is expressed in semester credit hours. The full academic calendar can be found on the GNU website.

Academic Grievance Process

If a GNU student has an academic grievance other than academic probation or dismissal or feels that some action of the University is not justified or constitutes an encroachment upon students' academic rights, the student may present the grievance, e.g., any question of examinations, assessments or student outcomes, or requirements for satisfactory progress in a course, etc., according to the provisions of the student Academic Grievance Process. The four-step grievance and appeal process is defined below. (For probation/dismissal appeals, see Academic Probation/Dismissal Appeals.) Timelines apply: if a grievance is because of an assignment grade, grievance must be filed by the end of that semester; if a grievance is over a course grade, grievance must be filed by the beginning of the following semester.

Step 1: Direct Appeal to instructor

The concerned student should speak with the professor directly. Such conversations should be conducted with grace and humility on both sides in pursuit of a mutually agreed upon resolution.

Step 2: Appeal to College Dean

If the good-faith attempt outlined above is unsuccessful in resolving the issue, either party may approach the appropriate Academic Dean of the college within which the course is being taught. If the Academic Dean is the professor toward whom the complaint or grievance is levied, the Provost will fill this role. The Academic Dean (or Provost) is then required to maintain written records of the process up to and beyond this point.

Step 3: Seeking Resolution

The Academic Dean (or Provost) will make all reasonable attempt(s) to mediate between the two parties and resolve the issue.

Step 4: Appeal to the Academic Standards and Student Concerns Committee (ASSCC)

If a resolution is not possible, any of the parties can request an appeal to the ASSCC. The Academic Dean (or Provost) will make that appeal. The decisions of the ASSCC are final.

Academic Integrity Code

Personal integrity is presumed to be sufficient assurance that students complete their own work without unauthorized help. Students who are involved in forms of academic dishonesty are subject to the jurisdiction of the Provost. Students who violate the Academic Integrity Code may forfeit the privilege of continuing their studies at GNU. The honor principle of the campus depends on the willingness of students, individually and collectively, to maintain and perpetuate standards of academic honesty. Each student accepts the responsibility of not only being honorable in academic work, but also supporting the principle of honesty as it applies to others.

Students are responsible for obtaining and understanding each of their instructor's policies related to the freedom they may exercise in collaborating with other students or using outside sources including their own work prepared and submitted for another course at GNU or any other educational venue. Unless a student has special written instructions from the relevant faculty member(s) concerning the Academic Integrity Code, the student must assume that the Provost, and faculty and student committees, will follow the strictest interpretation of the Academic Integrity Code. Honesty and integrity in the performance of academic assignments is expected of every student.

Academic Integrity Code Violations

The following are examples of violations of the Academic Integrity Code:

1. Cheating on an exercise, test, problem, or examination. Cheating includes the use of unauthorized aids, such as crib sheets, digital tools, the aid of any other person on a take-home exam; copying from another student's work; soliciting, giving and / or receiving unauthorized aid orally or in writing (before, during or after the quiz / examination), in such a way as to gain or give an advantage over other students; or any similar action contrary to the principles of academic honesty.
2. Plagiarism on an assigned paper, theme, report, or other material submitted to meet course requirements. Plagiarism is defined as incorporating into one's own work the work of another without properly indicating that source. Infractions can also include, but are not limited to, submitting, for credit, papers or reports written by someone other than the student, providing such a paper to a student, and failure to indicate the source of ideas, expressions, phrases or sentences (lack of citations). This also includes the use of commercially prepared papers or texts.

3. Non-reporting of suspected violations of the Academic Integrity Code.
4. Actions designed to deceive a member of the faculty or a fellow student regarding principles contained in the Academic Integrity Code, such as securing assistance from a faculty member in another course when such assistance has been unauthorized.
5. Submissions of work prepared for another course without specific prior authorization of the instructors in both courses.
6. Falsification of results of study and research. Presenting material that is known to be false and / or fabricated.
7. Infringing upon the right of others to fair and equal access to library and classroom resources.
8. Failure to sign for material and equipment taken from the library, classrooms, and / or other college depositories of information and equipment.
9. Abuse of library privileges by defacing resources, failing to check out materials, or return materials in a timely fashion.
10. Actions or statements showing disrespect, contempt, or insolence for the university's educational philosophy, mission, faculty, or administration.

Academic Integrity Code Appeals

Appeals of a decision by the College Dean regarding violations of the Academic Integrity Code shall be filed with the office of the Provost within 48 hours of receiving written notification of the case decision. The appeal must be in writing and shall state whether a) new information is to be presented or b) if the severity of the penalty is being appealed. Either the student or faculty member involved may appeal the decision.

The appeal shall be heard by the appropriate faculty. The Provost or the Student Services Officer may appeal to the President's Cabinet. All decisions of the President's Cabinet shall be binding and final. Penalties for violation of the Academic Integrity Code may include, but are not limited to, failure of a course or dismissal from the university.

Academic Load

The normal academic load is between 12 and 18 credit hours per semester. To be classified as full-time, an undergraduate student must be enrolled in a minimum of 12 credit hours. Great Northern University follows the Department of Education Guidelines stating that for every hour of course instruction in a 16-week course, there must be 2 hours of out-of-class student work at minimum.

In order to complete a prescribed degree program, a student should enroll in an average of 15 credit hours per semester. Students who maintain the average 15 credit hours per semester should be able to finish a certificate degree within one year and a bachelor's degree within four years. Students are encouraged to enroll in as many as 18 credit hours per semester.

Students who are involved in part-time employment during the academic year should plan their academic load very carefully with their faculty advisor. Full-time students should limit their weekly hours of employment according to the following suggested schedule:

1. Working 1-20 hours weekly: 18 hours maximum load
2. Working 20-30 hours weekly: 15 hours maximum load
3. Working 30-40 hours weekly: 12 hours maximum load

Academic Status

Policy Scope

Students should be aware that this policy applies only to academic status and may not be the same as those used to determine eligibility for other areas (for example, scholarships.).

Academic Status

At GNU, there are three types of academic status: Good Standing, Academic Probation, and Academic Probation Subject to Dismissal.

Academic Good Standing

Academic Good Standing refers to students who are meeting the minimum grade standards at the end of each term they are enrolled at GNU.

Academic Probation

Please Note: The following information explains GNU's policies for academic probation. There is an additional process for students receiving financial aid, noted in this catalog in the Financial Aid section under Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP).

Students are placed on Academic Probation after earning a cumulative grade-point average below the required satisfactory academic performance associated with the number of college credit hours completed (see Academic Probation chart). Students will receive individual email notifications of Probation status that explain the requirements that must be met for return to good academic standing. Students placed on Academic Probation may be required to participate in programs designed to help them return to good academic standing, and will have their course loads reduced. Students will not receive GNU scholarships while on Academic Probation.

Students are returned to Academic Good Standing upon earning a cumulative grade point average in compliance with the Satisfactory Academic Progress requirements. Failure to comply with the conditions of Academic Probation may result in further restrictions.

Academic Probation Subject to Dismissal

Students are placed on Academic Probation Subject to Dismissal after one semester of being on Academic Probation if Satisfactory Academic Progress has not been met. While on Academic Probation Subject to Dismissal, students are allowed to continue enrollment at GNU, but are limited in their enrollment to nine credit hours and may not participate in extracurricular and co-curricular activities. Students are required to participate in programs designed to help them return to Good Standing.

At the end of the two consecutive semesters without making Satisfactory Academic Progress, students will be dismissed from the university. They may re-apply subject to the course catalog of their re-entry year.

If a student fails a required course twice, he or she will automatically move into Academic Probation Subject to Dismissal.

Academic Status Processes and Review Requests

Academic Probation

Students receive probation notifications by GNU email from the Office of the Registrar within 14 days after final grades for the students' programs are submitted.

Students placed on probation may be dis-enrolled from a class or classes for the following semester if they are enrolled in more than the allowed 12 credit hours. The Registrar's Office, in cooperation with the Faculty Advisor, will notify the student of the new schedule.

It is the responsibility of the student to make satisfactory academic progress during his or her probationary semester or risk dismissal from the university.

Request for Review of Probation Status

In the case that an error has been made on the part of the university and the student feels he or she has been wrongly placed on probation due to a miscalculation of cumulative GPA, then a Request for Review may be submitted in writing. Request for Review must be made no later than 10 calendar days after the notification of Probation is sent to the student and should be directed to the Office of the Registrar.

Academic Dismissal Appeals

An appeal of Academic Dismissal can be made in writing.

Appeals will be considered only if the student has evidence of extraordinary, temporary circumstances that might have impeded academic success such as a family crisis or an emergency / acute medical condition.

If the appeal for dismissal is upheld, students will be placed back on Academic Probation Subject to Dismissal and will be permitted to enroll in only up to 12 credit hours. Some courses from the original pre-enrollment may no longer be available. Students placed on any other type of dismissal (Disciplinary, or Chapel) may not appeal Academic Dismissal.

The process for an Academic Dismissal appeal is as follows:

Step 1: Initial Notification

Students receive dismissal notifications by email within 14 days and mail within 21 days after final grades for the students' programs are submitted.

Dismissed students are immediately dropped from pre-enrolled classes for the following semester.

Step 2: Appeal

An appeal of Academic Dismissal is made in writing using the appropriate document. Appeals must be made no later than 30 calendar days after the notification of dismissal is sent to the student. Appeals received after 30 calendar days have expired, will not be considered.

The appeal document asks students for an explanation of the reasons the student did not perform well academically in the previous semester and a plan for overcoming those academic impediments in the future.

Appeals will only be considered if the cause for poor academic performance was related to at least one of the following criteria. Support documentation should be included along with the written appeal.

- 1) The established procedures for dismissal were not followed and / or the student does not meet the dismissal criteria as listed in the applicable catalog.
- 2) The student's situation in the semester that caused the dismissal meets at least one of the following parameters:

- a) A family crisis which may have caused psychological and / or emotional stresses that may have significantly impeded the student's academic performance.
- b) A new medical condition not previously disclosed that may have impeded the student's academic performance.
- c) Other significant stressors that may have impeded academic performance.

Appeals will not be considered under the following circumstances:

- 1) The student is additionally dismissed for reasons other than academic.
- 2) The student has made a previously denied appeal.
- 3) The student has made a previously upheld appeal in which the student did not adhere to the plan included in the original appeal.
- 4) The student's reason for poor academic performance was related to something prohibited by the Student Code of Conduct.

Step 3: Appeal to Academic Standards and Student Concerns Committee (AASSCC)

The AASSCC will consider the appeal and make a recommendation to the Provost in a timely manner.

Step 4: Appeal Decision Notification

If the appeal is upheld, the Provost will send written notification to the student and the Registrar's Office that the student is to be reinstated to the appropriate academic status. The notification will take place in a timely manner after the appeal is submitted. Students should meet with their Faculty Advisors to pursue next steps if they have been dropped in Step 1. Students who were to be dismissed will be placed on Academic Probation status and will be allowed to enroll in a maximum of 12 credit hours. Some courses from the original pre-enrollment may no longer be available due to closures or cancellations.

Readmission after Academic Dismissal

Following the academic dismissal, an academically dismissed student may apply for readmission. Students must indicate they are reapplying after Academic Dismissal. Readmission will be considered on a case-by-case basis and only if the petition clearly explains the student's plan for future academic success and includes a required explanation of the following:

- 1) Explanation of the student's previous academic performance and the steps taken to resolve those issues.
- 2) Evidence of academic improvement through successful completion of courses at another institution.
- 3) Documentation or evidence of extraordinary circumstances or medical condition that may have been temporary obstacles for academic success, and proof of the resolution or management of those issues.

Readmitted students will be subject to the academic curriculum in the catalog in effect at the time they are readmitted. Therefore, any new courses or requirements added to the academic program after the dismissal will become requirements for the student. A reinstated student will be admitted on Academic Probation.

Attendance Policies

GNU defines a credit hour by the average number of seat hours and estimated time outside class students will likely spend completing work. Therefore, class attendance is very important for students to obtain the learning hours designated for the credits they will earn. Additionally, students in higher education take on the responsibility of maximizing their educational experience, and because absences can adversely impact students' learning, it is beneficial for students to make the responsibility of class attendance a high priority. The interaction of the instructor and student is of vital importance in the learning process, so students are expected to be regular and punctual in attending all classes. Additionally, the number of credit hours assigned to a course is determined by the number of contact hours and the estimated time it will take students to complete work assigned to be done outside of class time. Attendance policies are created by faculty members to ensure students are participating in course activities to earn the full value of the credit hours assigned to the course.

Faculty members are responsible for attendance policies at their discretion. Therefore, students should pay careful attention to each course syllabus for specific attendance policies outlined by the instructor.

Additionally, faculty members have discretion in their allowance of make-up work for any and all absences. Students should refer to the course syllabus for specific course absence policies and make-up work.

Tardiness

Students are considered tardy when they arrive to class after the official starting time as designated in the semester course schedule or the time specified by the instructor and / or syllabus.

- 1) Students who arrive to class more than 10 minutes after the official starting time of the class may be counted absent.
- 2) Students who leave a class early without permission are subject to being counted absent by the instructor.
- 3) On announced test days, students who are tardy may not be allowed to take tests. Students must arrive on time on announced test days.

Removal from Class

Students may be removed from class if the student is being uncontrollably disruptive or creating a hostile learning environment as determined by the instructor. Students removed from class must immediately report to the Office of the Provost and / or respective College Dean and cannot return to the class until cleared by the Provost or College Dean. In these cases, instructors should file an incident report with the Office of the Registrar to be filed in the student's permanent file. Students removed from class will be considered unofficially absent.

Instructor Tardiness

In the event that an instructor is late for class, students should remain in the classroom until officially notified by the College Dean's office that the class has been canceled or until 15 minutes after the official starting time of the class. Students who leave earlier than 15 minutes may be counted unofficially absent should the faculty member arrive before the 15 minutes expires.

Classification of Students

Classification is determined on the following basis:

- 1) Freshman: 1-29 earned semester hours of credit
- 2) Sophomore: 30-59 earned semester hours of credit
- 3) Junior: 60-89 earned semester hours of credit
- 4) Senior: 90 earned semester hours of credit through degree requirements completed

Controversial Material

GNU endorses the pursuit of truth aligned with Scripture. The University recognizes that the pursuit of this truth occurs in a fallen world, and students may be exposed to material incongruous with Christian perspectives in a variety of forms. Faculty members are largely the agents of this pursuit of truth. They are employed, in part, because of their mature commitment to God and to the authority of the Scriptures. Therefore, GNU delegates to them discretionary powers to deal with the pursuit of truth and the discrediting of error in ways they deem appropriate, particularly in the selection of reading materials, lecture content, and audio-visual media.

Grading Policies

Grade Point Averages

A grade point average (GPA) is the quotient obtained by dividing the number of quality points earned by the number of credit hours attempted. Letter grades are used in evaluating the work of a course. The evaluation is not based on test average alone, but upon one or more of the following: participation and engagement of the student, daily assignments, general comprehension of the subject, and thoroughness and promptness in completion of assignments. Only grades for courses completed at GNU will count toward the cumulative GPA (CGPA).

Grade Points

| GRADE POINTS | STUDENT WORK REFLECTS |
| A 4.0 points A- 3.7 points | A sophisticated understanding of the material is demonstrated; big picture drawn from assignment. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Assignments completed on time • Active participation in discussion of main and finer points • Work reflects high skill in basic grammar, organization, logic, and presentation • Consistently reflect synthesis of information with application to everyday life |
| B+ 3.3. points B 3.0 points B- 2.7 points | An intermediate understanding of the material is demonstrated. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Assignments completed on time • Work reflects higher skill in basic grammar, organization, logic, and presentation • Frequently reflects a growing synthesis of information with application to everyday life |
| C+ 2.3 points C 2.0 points C- 1.7 points | Basic understanding of the material is demonstrated. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Assignments submitted on time • Work reflects developing skills in basic grammar, organization, logic, and presentation • Frequently little to no growing synthesis of information with application to everyday life |
| D+ 1.3 points D 1.0 points D- .70 points | Basic understanding of the material is substandard. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Assignments not completed on time • Work reflects no higher skills in basic grammar, organization, logic and presentation • Work reflects lack of synthesis of information with no application to everyday life. |
| F 0 points | Basic understanding of the material is absent. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Assignments not on time or not completed • Work reflects lack of skills in basic grammar, organization, logic, and presentation • No attempt at synthesis of information or application to everyday life. |

Incompletes

An Incomplete may be given when all requirements in a course have not been completed due to circumstances beyond the student's control, such as a major illness. An Incomplete may not be given for a student to improve a grade. Internship or field experience courses may not be assigned an incomplete grade without prior written approval from the College Dean of the student's academic program. Incomplete grades are neutral and do not impact the GPA. Students with incompletes are considered enrolled in that course only for the term in which it is offered. These courses do not count toward full-time status in any other subsequent term.

Assigning an incomplete grade is at the discretion of the course instructor. The instructor may deny the student an incomplete grade if the student does not meet eligibility requirements. The College Dean over the course gives final say for an incomplete grade. The responsibility for requesting an incomplete grade rests on the student, and arrangements should be made by the student with the instructor prior to the end of the course.

Coursework to satisfy the Incomplete must be completed by the due date indicated by the instructor. If work is not completed by the deadline stated, the student's grade for the course will be changed to reflect the coursework completed. An incomplete grade cannot remain on a student's record for more than one academic year. If nothing has been resolved by that time the grade will be changed to an F and the course will need to be retaken.

Once the incomplete work is completed, instructors will issue the final grade and notify the student.

An incomplete grade means that degree and graduation requirements have not yet been met. Therefore, students intending to graduate must resolve incompletes before the intended graduation date or their graduation will be delayed until the next available graduation date after the incomplete is resolved.

Eligibility Requirements

To be eligible for an incomplete grade, the student must provide documentation to the instructor of extenuating circumstances, such as a major illness or a death in the family. Examples: doctor's note, funeral program, etc.

Special criteria can be applied for students who do not meet the requirements above:

- 1) the student has made special accommodations arranged through the Office of Educational Support Services.
- 2) the student is a member of the U.S. military and is called to active duty (See Military Leave of Absence Policy)

Note: Documentation of accommodation and military leave of absence approval must be provided to the instructor before the incomplete form can be submitted.

Minimum Grade Requirements for All Programs

The Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA) in work completed at GNU must be at least 2.0 with a minimum 2.50 CGPA for courses in the major for a student to graduate from GNU. For a double major, a 2.50 CGPA must be maintained in both majors throughout the last four semesters. For a double major, failure to maintain a 2.50 CGPA in both majors will result in Academic Probation. Failure to do so could result in reduction to one major. Students should be aware of program-specific minimum grade standards.

Grade Forgiveness for Repeated Courses

The following rules apply when considering repeating a course after an unsuccessful attempt:

- 1) A maximum of two grades may be forgiven in the course of a student's undergraduate pursuit of a degree at GNU.
- 2) Grade forgiveness means that after a student repeats a course with a passing grade, the original course grade that does not meet minimum grade standards will be forgiven and will not be reflected in the cumulative GPA.
- 3) Grade forgiveness applies only to courses taken at GNU and repeated at GNU. Courses taken at other schools to replace an unsuccessful grade earned at GNU will not forgive the unsuccessful grade. The cumulative GPA will remain the same.
- 4) Grade forgiveness does not apply to courses that the catalog allows to be repeated for credit, such as Special Topics courses which are allowed to be repeated for credit.

Official Summons

A student who neglects, or disregards, an official request for a conference with a faculty member or university officer will be subject to disciplinary action. Such requests may be delivered in person, by telephone, by email through the GNU issued email account, by campus mail, by cell phone text to student verified cell phone number, or by U.S. Postal Service.

Graduation Requirements

Students seeking a degree at GNU must complete all requirements for the degree according to the requirements specified in the catalog of the year in which they matriculate to a degree program. The catalog year shall be considered as beginning with the fall semester. During the course of a student's work toward a degree, Great Northern University reserves the right to make effective any changes in curricula or graduation requirements which may be considered necessary for the general improvement of the University and/or degree.

Students who interrupt their studies at the University for a year or less before completing degree objectives will be subject to the requirements set forth in the catalog effective for the year in which they matriculated to a degree program. To continue a program under a specific catalog after a year's absence, students must take a minimum of six semester credit hours each semester and complete the degree within ten years of the time they first matriculate. If students do not complete requirements in that time, they may be required to re-enroll under the effective catalog of the time of re-enrollment.

A student who wishes for a degree to be conferred from Great Northern University must fulfill all the following requirements:

- 1) Complete the Graduation Application.
- 2) Complete all degree, program, and course requirements for the declared program of study. All official documentation indicating the completion of program requirements, including but not limited to transfer transcripts, substitution / policy exception forms, must be received on or before the graduation date or graduation will be delayed until the next available date.
- 3) For all bachelor's degrees, at least 30 credit hours of coursework must be completed in courses at GNU. For certificates, 15 credit hours of coursework must be completed at GNU. Students transferring from other institutions desiring to complete a bachelor's degree must complete a minimum of 30 credit hours in classes offered by GNU, of which 21 must be upper-division (3000-4000 level) courses, to qualify for graduation in GNU's Bachelor programs. Transcripts of students transferring from an accredited Bible school will be evaluated by the appropriate College Dean to determine any exceptions.
- 4) Students must meet expectations for Field Education in each semester at GNU.
- 5) Chapel attendance requirements (80% attendance each semester) must be met.
- 6) Students seeking a bachelor's degree at GNU must complete at least 60 credit hours from institutions that grant bachelor's degrees.
- 7) The Cumulative Grade Point Average in work completed at GNU is 2.0 with a minimum 2.50 CGPA for major requirements.
- 8) The student may not participate in Commencement while on academic, disciplinary, or chapel probation.
- 9) All contracts and financial obligations to the University must be fulfilled.
- 10) All documentation of transfer credits, substitutions, and policy waivers must be submitted to the Registrar's Office before the graduation date.

Application for Graduation

Degrees are conferred three times annually: one on the date of Commencement exercises in May, one on the final day of the summer term, and one on the final day of the fall term. Students who have reached 90 credit hours and plan to complete degree requirements at GNU must file a Graduation Application form by the deadline established. All information pertaining to the graduation application can be found on the GNU website.

Students classified as juniors who are planning to participate in Commencement exercises in the spring of the following year must consult with their advisor during the spring of the junior year to ascertain the student's eligibility status for graduation and to plan the student's remaining class schedule. No student will be classified as a graduating senior or placed on the prospective graduation list until the Graduation Application has been completed and filed with the Registrar's Office.

Participation in Commencement

Commencement at GNU is held one time per year at the end of the traditional student academic calendar, typically in May. Participation in Commencement is expected. However, to participate in Commencement, students anticipating graduation must submit a Graduation Application.

All degree requirements must be completed by the Commencement date for the student to be permitted participation. This means the student has completed, or will complete by the Commencement date, all courses listed in the academic program with the appropriate minimum grades and grade point averages (see Graduation Requirements). Special exceptions may be permitted on a case-by-case basis through an appeal to the Registrar.

Once a student is cleared to participate in Commencement, regalia will be ordered by the Office of the Registrar. To receive regalia, all financial obligations must be resolved. Students are ineligible to participate in Commencement if financial obligations to the University are not resolved, even if they were initially cleared to participate before fees or other charges were added to their student account.

Academic Honors

Graduation Honors

GNU honors its graduating undergraduate students who have excelled academically in a bachelor's degree program. The following academic honors are bestowed on qualifying students upon graduation of their degree program.

- 1) Summa Cum Laude – cumulative grade point average is 3.90 or above
- 2) Magna Cum Laude – cumulative grade point average is 3.70-3.89
- 3) Cum Laude – cumulative grade point average is 3.50-3.69

Commencement programs will indicate honors based on the CGPA of the semester prior to a student's participation in Commencement ceremonies. However, honors are not official until all degree requirements are completed and all grades are final. Official transcripts will reflect official honors.

For transfer students to receive academic honors upon graduation, they must have earned at least 30 credit hours at GNU with at least 21 of those credit hours being in upper-division courses. These requirements are in addition to meeting the cumulative GPA requirements for non-transfer students. Students who transfer with a qualifying cumulative GPA from all other higher education institutions will be eligible if they maintain the required GPA from the time of admission.

Valedictorian

The Valedictorian is presented each year to the graduating senior who has maintained the highest cumulative grade point average.

President's and Dean's Honor Roll

At the end of each semester, the President issues the President's Honor Roll, and the College Deans issue the Dean's Honor Roll in recognition of high academic achievement. Students are eligible for the President's Honor Roll if they have completed a minimum of 12 hours during the semester with a grade point average of 4.0. Students who have completed a minimum of 12 hours during the semester with a grade point average of 3.75 or above are eligible for the Dean's Honor Roll.

GNU Library Resources

Great Northern University's library provides a variety of resources to support student learning. In addition to the collections at Great Northern University, students will also have access to a variety of electronic databases at nearby institutions. As community members, students will have access to a wide collection of resources (including over 600,000 books, ebooks, and audiobooks) through various academic libraries, including the Spokane Academic Library at the Riverpoint campus. Current students at GNU have rights and privileges to materials, online and in print, from Gonzaga University's Foley Library based upon an articulation agreement.

Additional resources will be available to students through the library portal on Populi. For more information, refer to the Library Manual which includes information on library procedures and a student users' manual.

ACADEMIC PROGRAMS

Flexible Curriculum

The phrase “flexible curriculum” reflects that not every degree plan meets all of an individual’s needs, so by keeping our core requirements minimal, students have great freedom in crafting their own educational vision and goals. Students can choose concentrations within their chosen major or students may choose to earn a certificate or combine majors with certificates. The freedom of choosing electives offers further flexibility within their major, concentration, or certificate focus. Our vision is to have a curriculum that is flexible enough to shape each individual’s vision and life goals yet offer academic rigor to prepare the student for the future. Majors and Certificates are listed below. See each individual College Program for requirements.

A minor is an approved, coherent concentration of academic study in a single discipline, involving fewer hours of credit than a corresponding major. Students at Great Northern University may choose to add a minor to their curriculum, under the guidance of their faculty advisor. Minors would include 21 credits above any core requirements in any discipline outside their major.

COLLEGE OF COMMUNICATION AND THEOLOGY

BIBLICAL AND THEOLOGICAL STUDIES (B.A.)

This program trains students to read Scripture historically, theologically, and practically. All students in the major will take a core of 18 credits, and additional credits in a concentration of their choosing (Bible or Theology). This program offers foundational training for traditional forms of vocational ministry and prepares students for graduate school, but is not limited to students headed in those directions. It is designed for anyone who wants to think Christianly about all of life's pursuits.

B.A. Biblical and Theological Studies Major Program Learning Outcomes

- 1) Describe the broad redemptive-historical storyline of the Bible and the place of each biblical book within that storyline
- 2) Think in continuity with the classical Protestant theological tradition
- 3) Evaluate current ecclesial and cultural trends in light of Scripture
- 4) Interpret Scripture in its literary, historical, and theological contexts

COMMUNICATION (B.A.)

The Communication major equips students to communicate the gospel around the globe. Graduates will effectively use the art of persuasion to inform local, national, and global issues from a Christian perspective using communication strategies. Students will be able to identify and evaluate the dynamic relationships involved in the rhetorical acts of personal, career, and ministry communication. Graduates will critically examine how meaning is created through language and will explore the assumptions, applications, and analyses of communication in its varied forms.

B.A. Communication Major Program Learning Outcomes

- 1) Show an ability to create/shape/transform culture by telling the stories that God is unfolding through the work of His Kingdom.
- 2) Think critically about the rapidly evolving Communication /cultural landscape through a theological lens.
- 3) Possess a basic tool set of communication skills necessary to further the work of the church and to tell the story of the gospel; and
- 4) Demonstrate his or her individual communication giftedness in a professional ministry portfolio and internship setting.

YOUTH AND FAMILY MINISTRY (B.A.)

The Youth and Family Ministry degree equips leaders, academically and practically, to have positive impact on young people and their families. The program prepares exceptional leaders who explain and model the Gospel of Jesus Christ to our rapidly changing world. A unique emphasis of this program is the two-fold focus on ministry preparation specifically to youth, and also preparation for resourcing parents/guardians for the spiritual formation of their teenagers. Graduates develop a solid foundation and skill set for effective ministry in the local church, para-church ministries, as well as preparation for graduate studies in a variety of theological and ministry-related fields.

Youth and Family Ministry Major Program Learning Outcomes

- 1) Develop and defend a personal, biblical philosophy of holistic youth ministry.
- 2) Devise an intentional plan for resourcing and encouraging parents toward the spiritual formation of their teenagers.
- 3) Assist youth and their families in times of crisis and adolescent issues.
- 4) Develop leadership skills in team development, strategic ministry planning, and strategic discipleship.
- 5) Effectively and accurately teach the Scriptures to teenagers.

COLLEGE OF GLOBAL ENGAGEMENT

INTERCULTURAL STUDIES (BA)

The Bachelor of Arts in Intercultural Studies is designed to serve Christ and the Church by equipping and developing innovative cross-cultural leaders who are prepared to actively participate in an increasingly multicultural context. The program provides practical preparation for individuals to represent Christ well through fostering cultural awareness and developing effective cross-cultural professionals who are prepared for intercultural service in the US or abroad. The program seeks to create a comprehensive understanding and appreciation for how the Church and individual Christians can best engage a wide-array of cultural beliefs, value systems, worldviews, and intercultural communication methods and strategies.

Our curriculum provides foundational and specialized skills designed to equip the student for meaningful intercultural engagement beyond the classroom. Our open-curriculum format and faculty expertise allows students to maximize their ability to cater their degree to their own personal interests and career goals in a variety of areas, including linguistics and modern languages, anthropology, international health, business as mission, teaching English (TESOL), honor/shame studies, oral storytelling, cross-cultural church planting, Native American studies, medical anthropology, human trafficking, intercultural media, specific area studies (e.g., East Asian, Middle Eastern, East European studies, etc.), or any related self-directed topic of personal interest. Our program is designed to prepare students with marketable skills to enter careers such as humanitarian aid and development agencies, government foreign service, international business, refugee resettlement, or any missions–related work.

B.A. Intercultural Studies Major Program Learning Outcomes

- 1) Demonstrate cultural awareness and cross-cultural competence.
- 2) Articulate an appreciation of a variety of world cultures.
- 3) Identify and analyze a wide array of cultural beliefs, value systems, and worldviews to engage and transform the world for Christ.
- 4) Apply intercultural engagement skills to a wide range of professional settings.

CERTIFICATES

Applied Linguistics Certificate Requirements

The Certificate in Linguistics provides the student with a strong foundation in linguistic analysis, field research methods, and an ability to examine and describe the sociolinguistic or literary status of dialects, creoles, or minority languages. The program adds distinctiveness and breadth to any B.A. in Intercultural Studies, TESOL, or Interdisciplinary degrees and is applicable to many career paths, including Bible translation, language teaching, education, or language acquisition. Emphasis is on integrating linguistic principles and analysis with spiritual growth and missional focus for any cross-cultural or cross-linguistic vocation. Students must demonstrate a minimum of novice-mid proficiency in a modern foreign language. A year of a foreign language may also be used to satisfy this requirement.

Certificate in Applied Linguistics Program Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of the Certificate in Applied Linguistics, students will be able to:

1. Apply research principles to analyze and describe the phonemic inventory and articulatory characteristics of any language.

2. Analyze in detail either the morphological or phonological characteristics of a language without prior exposure.
3. Articulate a concise analysis of the main aspects of English syntax, with application to other languages.
4. Adapt and apply linguistic field methods to identify semantic, pragmatic, and sociolinguistic characteristics of a language style, dialect or creole.
5. Adapt and apply research methods and analytical principles to determine needs for Bible translation for minority languages.
6. Apply principles to determine effective strategies for continued acquisition of a foreign language.

LINGUISTICS (B.A.)

The BA in Linguistics provides the student with a strong foundation in linguistic analysis and the application of field research methods in the examination and description of structural, semantic, and sociolinguistic aspects of human language. The program emphasizes the application of analysis and theory to either language pedagogy or the exploration of the literary status of dialects, creoles, or minority languages.

The program offers the flexibility for direct application to any related career path, including professional or Bible translation, language teaching, or field research. Emphasis is on integrating theory and strong linguistic analysis with a growing proficiency in modern and/or classical languages; and spiritual growth and missional focus for any cross-cultural work or field research in linguistics.

B.A. Linguistics Major Program Learning Outcomes

At the completion of the B.A. in Linguistics, students will be able to:

1. Apply research principles to analyze and describe the phonemic inventory and articulatory characteristics of any language.
2. Examine and articulate in writing the phonological systems of a variety of languages without prior exposure, including both segmental and suprasegmental characteristics.
3. Analyze the morphological and syntactic characteristics of a language without prior exposure.
4. Apply principles of semantics and pragmatics to research related to the student's chosen language or region.
5. Adapt and apply linguistic field methods to determine the sociolinguistic and literary status of a dialect or creole.
6. Adapt and apply research methods and analytical principles to determine needs for Bible translation or for minority languages.
7. Apply research methods and principles of second language acquisition to determine effective strategies for the teaching of a minority language

PSYCHOLOGY (B.S.)

Students pursuing a B.S. in Psychology at Great Northern University will critically examine human behavior and the mental processes that affect and contribute to behavior. The program combines history of pertinent theories and how those theories are utilized in modern research and practice. As students study the development of the human experience, they will be able to contribute to discussions of complex, real-world applications such as mental health, child development, and social work. The program offers three concentrations: Biblical Counseling, Psychiatry and Neurobiology, and School Counseling. Please note: the B.S. degree in Psychology does not lead to licensure in Washington State.

B.S Psychology Major Program Learning Outcomes

Students who complete the Psychology major will demonstrate competency in:

1. Application of knowledge with critical thinking skills: Students should be able to use critical thinking to evaluate and interpret evidence, and to apply psychological concepts, theories, and research findings to individual, social, and cultural issues.
2. Application of research methods with values and integrity: Students should be able to apply basic research methods in psychology, with sensitivity to ethical principles.
3. Communication skills: Students should be able to demonstrate effective communication skills appropriate to purpose and context following professional conventions in psychology.
4. Developing psychology information literacy: Students should be able to find, evaluate, interpret, and apply information in the field of psychology.

TESOL (B.A.)

The Bachelor of Arts in TESOL provides a strong foundation in the principles and practice of English language teaching either abroad (TEFL) or in an English-speaking country (TESL).

The program strikes a balance between the principles and theory of language pedagogy and biblical principles, and practical and professional skills necessary for effective cross-cultural English teaching. This major develops the professional skills and practical experience for teaching English across age groups or in any cultural context, though at this time it does not lead to teaching certification.

B.A. TESOL Major Program Learning Outcomes

1. Demonstrate an understanding of major principles related to the teaching of a second or foreign language, especially as applied to teaching English.
2. Integrate insights from Second Language Acquisition research and principles of linguistic analysis with biblical principles to articulate a sound philosophy of English language teaching as ministry.
3. Apply to teaching practice effective methods of instruction and assessment related to the acquisition of key grammatical aspects of English.
4. Analyze several other languages to identify potential difficulties native speakers may have in mastering the English grammatical system.
5. Evaluate real-life learning and teaching situations and apply techniques that reflect effective pedagogical principles and best practices for the resolution of learner difficulties and weaknesses in the classroom.

COURSE INFORMATION AND DESCRIPTIONS

Skill Progression

As a freshman at GNU, each student can expect to write ten pages in every 1000-level courses. As a sophomore, a student can typically expect to write ten pages of researched scholarship in 2000-level courses. As juniors and seniors, students can expect an increased emphasis on oral exams and oral presentations.

Course Numbering System

The number for each course identifies the academic level of the course. For example, the course number of Introduction to Intercultural Communication is ICS 2100. The first digit "2" shows that this is a sophomore level course and the other three numbers are used by our university to designate a specific course.

Lower Division = 1000-2000

Upper Division = 3000-4000

Courses Not Open to Freshmen

Courses numbered 3000 and above are not open to freshmen. Exception to the regulation will be made by the College Dean of the course in question only when there is justifiable evidence that the freshman is adequately prepared for the advanced course.

Directed Study Courses

The desire of the University is to encourage students to complete individualized, directed study courses within a reasonable period.

- 1) Students are expected to complete each course within the semester in which they are enrolled in the directed study class. Therefore, early enrollment in a directed study course is imperative.
- 2) No extensions are available for directed study courses; directed study coursework not completed by the end of the semester is not subject to an incomplete grade unless there is a dire emergency situation. In such case, incomplete grade procedures must be followed.

Internships, Practicums, Field Experience

Students enrolled in internship, practicum, or field experience courses have six months to complete required course work and clock hours or receive an "F." If an "F" grade is earned, students must re-enroll in the course for credit. These courses will not be allowed incomplete grades without prior written approval from the College Dean of the school of the student's academic program.

Prerequisites

Prerequisite courses must be completed prior to pursuing more advanced courses and are specified in this catalog immediately following course descriptions. Prerequisites must be completed with a passing grade before students will be permitted to persist in a course that requires the prerequisite course. However, for courses in the core of the major, students must pass prerequisite courses with a grade of a C or better, except for special permission of the College Dean of the school of the student's academic program. Transfer courses can be used to fulfill prerequisite requirements if those courses follow transfer credit policies listed elsewhere in this catalog.

COM 3100 Communication Research Methods - 3 semester hours

This class provides an introduction to the intellectual foundations and practical methods of qualitative and quantitative research in order to engage with the problem of how we know what we know, how we ask questions about what we don't know, and how we go about finding reasonable answers. We will then focus on achieving competency in gathering, organizing, interpreting, and presenting research information using ethically sound research strategies. Students will evaluate published studies to analyze validity measures, reliability of research results, and ethical issues in conducting and reporting research. This course will guide each student to propose and conduct research for a directed research project to be conducted with a mission agency or community nonprofit: the research results will become an integral part of the communication portfolio. This course is designed to provide both a broad overview of the research process and practical experience in conducting research. Prerequisites: GER 1100 Written Communication I, GER 1101 Written Communication II, COM 2100 Media, Culture, and Society; COM 2101 Communication Theory.

COM 3101 Rhetorical Theory - 3 semester hours

This course immerses students in the application of communication theories and their practical application in a variety of contexts. Prerequisite: COM 2101 Communication Theory.

COM 3102 Technical Communication -3 semester hours

This course implements innovative technology, teaching students to use the latest technology-based tools to share and process information in effective ways across platforms and devices.

COM 3103 Religious Communication - 3 semester hours

This course will study the persuasive and promotional strategies of major world religions and American cults as they have evolved over time. These strategies will be compared and contrasted with Christian apologetics and evangelism tactics in denominational churches and para-church ministries.

COM 3104 Leadership Communication - 3 semester hours

This course is a survey of foundational principles of leadership and leadership development in ministry settings.

COM 3105 Persuasive Communication - 3 semester hours

This class examines rhetorical theories and methods that have been developed for the purpose of changing thoughts, attitudes, and behaviors from scientific and psychological perspectives. The students will be invited to apply learned techniques that generate the desire to examine, to evaluate, and to change primary, individual, and corporate values. This course will study the leaders in persuasion: commercial advertisers, Christian apologists, political and social activists.

COM 3106 Ethics in Human Communication - 3 semester hours

This seminar in ethics and communication will help students better understand the ethical dilemmas faced when communicating in a variety of relational situations. Through an examination of various communication theories, students will come to better understand the ways in which communication can define, create, maintain, and change social realities and will appreciate the ethical implications involved in these communication functions.

COM 3107 Writing for Media - 3 semester hours

Students will be exposed to several types of media writing, including writing for public relations, screenplays, news for broadcast and print media, press releases, and advertisements. This course will also examine legal and ethical problems of media writing. Students will be expected to begin and maintain portfolios of their work. This course will feature guest lecturers throughout the semester.

COM 3108 Small Group Communication - 3 semester hours

This course is a study of the unique communicative characteristics and advantages of small group communication environments: the student will examine and practice the dynamic interactions that occur in such groups – as leaders and active participants. Time will be given to practice group discussion, analysis, conflict resolution, and productive response to relevant topics.

COM 3109 Writing for Strategic Communication - 3 semester hours

This advanced writing course emphasizes strategies for effective business and technical communication with a special emphasis on working within churches and mission agencies. Students will develop proficiency in communication strategies used in a variety of organizational settings.

COM 3110 Magazine and Feature Writing – 3 semester hours

This course is designed to introduce students to the technical expertise, research methods, interviewing skills, and narrative techniques pertinent to feature writing. The course also explores how to target a feature story to a specific audience and how to submit feature stories for publication to newspapers and magazines.

COM 3111 The Christian and the Creative Process - 3 semester hours

This course enables students to explore the powerful ways art shapes culture and to consider how a Christian worldview contributes to both cultural influence and spiritual understanding, within the church and without. This course may focus on drama, literature, music, film, or other visual arts.

COM 4100 Senior Communication Seminar - 3 semester hours

A course designed to allow students to apply course work to professional issues beyond the undergraduate level. Course content includes a significant individual research paper and in-depth readings in communication journals to gain a broader understanding of the discipline, with an emphasis on employment preparation. Course must be taken in final semester. Prerequisites: COM 3100 Communication Research Methods; COM 3101 Rhetorical Theory.

COM 4102 Organizational Communication - 3 semester hours

The nature and process of communication in modern organizations is examined, including the pragmatic implications of organizational communication theories as they relate to understanding organizations and implementing change strategies. EDU 3000 Curriculum and Instruction – 3 semester hours

This course is designed to provide students a broad perspective of philosophical orientations on curriculum and instructional choices to ensure that curriculum decisions are responsive to the needs of students and promote the common good. Course provides a broad base of knowledge in curriculum theory, inquiry, and curriculum development, and issues related to lesson planning (including task design), course planning and syllabus design, as well as change processes in order to meet high expectations. This course is designed to build the foundation for decision-making that combines an understanding of the origins of American education and curriculum with current needs and future expectations.

EDU 3010 Methods of Teaching Elementary Education – 3 semester hours

This course provides teachers with research-based instructional techniques and strategies in reading. The course will study theories and methods for integrating literacy instruction in content area classrooms using reading assessments and literacy strategies that are designed to increase vocabulary learning and comprehension of expository texts. Students will implement these techniques during the required 30 hours of field experience for this course. Course topics also include best pedagogical practices in assessment and instruction in word-level skills (including phonics, phonemic awareness, and word recognition), vocabulary, fluency, and comprehension. Last, course participants consider frameworks for meeting the instructional needs of all children, including grouping and differentiating for instruction through the implementation of a comprehensive reading program.

EDU 4500 Special Topics in Education – 3 semester hours

Special Topics is an upper level course that treats special areas in education. Topics will be chosen in accord with the professor’s interests and competencies, student interest, and the consent of the Colleges applicable. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

HUM 1000 Advanced Tutorial I – 3 Semester Hours

Tutorial instruction for course credit open to candidates for honors who are qualified to do special seminars on primary texts. May be repeated for credit if the texts under investigation differ. This is an in-depth investigation of selected primary texts. The texts will be chosen in accord with the professor’s interests and competency and student interest. Honors tutorials are (1) dedicated to classic texts, (2) conducted in dialogue, (3) shaped by student participation and contribution, and (4) purposed to direct students toward original research. Students will complete one 10-page paper and weekly discussion contributions. Prerequisite: permission of the instructor.

HUM 2000 Advanced Tutorial II – 3 Semester Hours

Tutorial instruction for course credit open to candidates for honors who are qualified to do special seminars with in-depth investigation of selected primary texts. May be repeated for credit if the texts under investigation differ. The texts will be chosen in accord with the professor's interests and competency and student interest. Honors tutorials are (1) dedicated to classic texts, (2) conducted in dialogue, (3) shaped by student participation and contribution, and (4) purposed to direct students toward original research. Students will complete weekly oral presentations and a final research essay. Prerequisite: permission of the instructor; HUM 1000.

HUM 3000 Advanced Tutorial III – 3 Semester Hours

Tutorial instruction for course credit open to candidates for honors who are qualified to do special seminars with in-depth investigation of selected primary texts. May be repeated for credit if the texts under investigation differ. The texts will be chosen in accord with the professor's interests and competency and student interest. Honors tutorials are (1) dedicated to classic texts, (2) conducted in dialogue, (3) shaped by student participation and contribution, and (4) purposed to direct students toward original research. Students will complete oral examinations and complete a research project. Prerequisite: permission of the instructor; HUM 2000.

HUM 4000 Advanced Tutorial IV – 3 Semester Hours

Tutorial instruction for course credit open to candidates for honors who are qualified to do special seminars with in-depth investigation of selected primary texts. This course explores the basic principles of finance and fundraising. The course also focuses on the role of leadership in financial management and fundraising with particular emphasis on best practices for different sectors.

LDR 4010 Internship for Leadership Studies – 3 semester hours

This course is designed to provide students with an opportunity to apply their previous coursework in a real-life situation. Students will reflect on their application of knowledge with a particular focus on their strengths and weaknesses as a leader.

LDR 4400 Senior Capstone for Leadership Studies – 3 semester hours

This course is designed as a culmination of major-specific coursework. Students will articulate a multidisciplinary philosophy of leadership. In addition, students will be expected to demonstrate their ability to meet the program outcomes.

LDR 4500 Special Topics in Leadership – 3 semester hours

Special Topics is an upper level course that treats special areas in Leadership. Topics will be chosen in accord with the professor's interests and competencies, student interest, and the consent of the Colleges applicable. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

Linguistics (LNG)

LNG 2100 Introduction to Linguistics – 3 semester hours

A survey of phonetics (the study of speech sounds), phonology (the sound systems of individual languages), morphology (the origin and structure of words), Syntax (phrase structure and grammatical relations), Semantics (the study of lexical meaning), Pragmatics (the study of contextual meaning) and Sociolinguistics (the study of language in society). The approach to this course is practical, emphasizing problem solving, and providing the skills needed for analyzing the structure of English and other languages as a basis for any research or applied linguistics degree (e.g., TESOL).

LNG 3000 Second Language Acquisition (3 semester hours)

This course provides an overview of current research into how languages are learned. Variables such as motivation, age, first language, aptitude, identity, cognitive learning style, and classroom instruction are addressed, etc. Coursework emphasizes understanding contemporary theories and issues in SLA; highlighting these theories' connections with particular teaching methods; learning how to analyze relevant SLA research; and connecting course content and principles with TESOL pedagogy and practice. Students learn to analyze written and delivered curriculum to identify methodologies motivated by various SLA theories. Coursework enables students to develop pedagogical practices and a teaching philosophy drawn from the theoretical insights gleaned from current SLA research. Pre-requisite: LNG 2100 Introduction to Linguistics

LNG 3010 Sociolinguistics – 3 semester hours

This course introduces the core principles of sociolinguistics and explores language varieties, use, and related social and cultural meaning and context, including dialects, style, register, language status, and development and current use of word variance of English. Coursework further emphasizes the practical application of relevant theories, research, and principles to an ESL pedagogical context. Prerequisite: LNG 2100 Introduction to Linguistics.

LNG 3100 Morphology and Syntax – 3 semester hours

This course introduces the student to principles of linguistics related to syntax and morphology across languages. Coursework develops analytical and problem-solving skills and includes typology and comparative analysis, with many examples from English. The impact of native language structure on the acquisition of English as a second or foreign language is also covered, with practical application of relevant theory, research, and principles in an ESL pedagogical context. Prerequisite: LNG 2100 Introduction to Linguistics.

LNG 3102 Phonology and Articulatory Phonetics – 3 semester hours

This course introduces the student to principles of linguistics related to articulatory phonetics and phonological processes across languages. Coursework develops analytical and problem solving skills and also covers the impact of native language phonology on the acquisition of English as a second or foreign language, with practical application of relevant theory, research, and principles in an ESL pedagogical context. Prerequisite: LNG 2100 Introduction to Linguistics

LNG 3103 Semantics and Pragmatics – 3 semester hours

This course introduces the core principles of semantics and pragmatics, and explores language meaning at the lexical, phrasal, and sentential levels for given social or cultural contexts. The creative use of language to convey meaning is explored, including speech acts and their implications. Emphasis in this course is on the practical application of content to either a research or applied linguistics career. Prerequisite: LNG 2100 Introduction to Linguistics.

LNG 3104 Linguistic Research Methods - 3 semester hours

This course develops an understanding and application of the principles and effective methods and strategies for conducting linguistic research related to structural characteristics of a previously unknown language, dialect, creole, or pidgin tongue. Coursework develops practical and analytical skills for the planning, organization, and conduct of field research. Four weeks of applied coursework is conducted on the field in association with the Linguistics Internship. Prerequisites: LNG 3100 Morphology and Syntax; LNG 3102 Phonology and Articulatory Phonetics; LNG 4100 Internship Preparation. Corequisite: LNG 4101 Internship II.

LNG 3105 Ethnolinguistic Field Study - 3 semester hours

An introduction to the principles and practice of ethnolinguistic research. Coursework develops analytical abilities in determining language status and associated needs related to Bible translation and orality projects as applied to Bible translation or literacy projects. Students apply methods in actual field research related to the Linguistics internship. Prerequisites: LNG 3010 Sociolinguistics, LNG 3104 Linguistic Research Methods.

LNG 3106 Discourse Analysis – 3 semester hours

An introduction to the theories, principles, and methods of discourse analysis. Coursework develops analytical abilities in examination of natural language discourse to determine factors related to sociolinguistic, psycholinguistic and ethno-linguistic aspects of language use, function, and status. Prerequisites: LNG 2100 Introduction to Linguistics, LNG 3010 Sociolinguistics.

LNG 3200 Advanced Morphology and Syntax - 3 semester hours

This course explores in detail the subfields of morphology and syntax. Students acquire advanced skills and experience in the analysis of the structure of a variety of world languages. An examination of morphological typology and an introduction to Syntax Theory is provided, with emphasis on the practical application of coursework to field research and preparation for graduate school. Prerequisites: LNG 2100 Introduction to Linguistics; LNG 3100 Morphology and Syntax.

LNG 3201 Advanced Phonology - 3 semester hours

This course explores in detail the subfield of Phonology. Students acquire advanced skills and experience in the analysis of the phonological structure of a variety of world languages. An examination of phonological typology and an introduction to phonology theory is provided, with emphasis on the practical application of coursework to field research and preparation for graduate school. Prerequisites: LNG 2100 Introduction to Linguistics; LNG 3102 Phonology and Articulatory Phonetics.

LNG 3202 Topics in Linguistics - 3 semester hours

This course provides students with an opportunity to explore additional aspects of linguistics not covered in the standard curriculum, including historical linguistics, acoustical phonetics, principles of translation, literacy, and philosophy of language. Includes practical considerations of how these topics intersect with the practice of linguistic research, language pedagogy or Bible translation, or other related vocations. Prerequisites: LNG 2100 Introduction to Linguistics; LNG 3102 Phonology and Articulatory Phonetics; LNG 3100 Morphology and Syntax; LNG 3103 Semantics and Pragmatics.

LNG 4100 Internship Preparation I - 1 semester hour

A preparatory course that equips the student for an internship in linguistic field research related to either Bible translation, second language acquisition, or other chosen research for multidisciplinary majors. Prerequisites: LNG 3105 Ethnolinguistic Field Study, LNG 3104 Linguistic Research Methods.

LNG 4101 Internship II - 2 semester hours

A practical, 6-week (minimum) cross-cultural experience that affords the student with an opportunity to conduct field research related to Bible translation, second language acquisition, or other chosen research for multidisciplinary majors. Prerequisite: LNG 4100 Internship Preparation, ICS 2100 Introduction to Intercultural Communication. Corequisite: LNG 3104 Linguistic Research Methods.

LNG 4102 Linguistics Field Practicum - 2 semester hours

A practical, 6-week experience that affords the student with an opportunity to conduct linguistic field research related to sociolinguistics, semantics / pragmatics, or ethno-linguistic analysis. Prerequisites: LNG 2100 Introduction to Linguistics; LNG 3102, Phonology and Articulatory Phonetics; LNG 3010 Sociolinguistics.

LNG 4500 Special Topics in Linguistics – 3 semester hours

Special Topics is an upper level course that treats special areas in linguistics. Topics will be chosen in accord with the professor's interests and competencies, student interest, and the consent of the applicable College. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

Psychology (PSY)

PSY 1000 Introduction to Psychology – 1 semester hour

Introduces students to the scientific study of behavior and mental processes and also provides an overview. Instructors may emphasize social, cognitive, developmental, or personality psychology and their interrelations.

PSY 1100 Introduction to Psychological Statistics – 3 semester hours

An introduction to elementary statistical principles and techniques relevant to psychological research.

PSY 1200 Fundamental Theories of Cognition – 3 semester hours

Introduces basic concepts in cognitive psychology with a focus on theoretical explanations of cognitive functioning. Topics include perception, attention, memory, concepts, language, visual cognition, executive functions, and reasoning processes. Prerequisite: PSY 1000 Introduction to Psychology.

PSY 2100 Social Psychology – 3 semester hours

Social Psychology provides an introduction and broad overview of the major theories and findings within social psychology, which is the scientific study of the way people think, feel, and behave in social situations. It involves understanding how people influence, and are influenced by, the others around them. A primary goal of this course is to introduce the perspectives, research methods, and empirical findings of social psychology. Topics to be covered include: impression formation, conformity, prosocial behavior, interpersonal attraction, persuasion, stereotyping, and prejudice. Equally important is the goal of cultivating skills for analyzing the social situations and events that all individuals encounter in everyday lives. Finally, throughout the course, emphasis will be placed on developing critical and integrative ways of thinking about theory and research in social psychology.
